Cathedral Bathed by Floodlights

Illustrating Dean Brian Whitlow's statement that a floodlit Gothic building "looks quite dramatic" standing out against the night sky, the front of Christ Church Cathedral was bathed briefly by floodlights in a test last night in preparation for Sunday when the floodlights will be turned on for the evening service on the centennial day of thanksgiving.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Mikoyan Tells Bonn Hosts:

We'll Spare Germany If A-Arms Renounced

Four Pacts Clear Way For $375,000,000 Deal

BONN, Germany (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan made a strong appeal Friday night to the forces opposed to arming West German troops with atomic weapons.

He said if the Bonn republic would renounce atomic weapons, the Soviet Union would never —even in the event of war with the West—drop atomic bombs on West Germany.

The issue of arming West German troops with atomic weapons is a burning political issue in West Germany. The opposition socialists are bitterly fighting such a step and they claim four out of five West Germans don't want atomic arms.

Mikoyan spoke in offering a toast to Friday's signing of trade and consular pacts between Bonn and Moscow.

YOU DO SAME

Heinrich von Brentano, West German foreign minister, in a pointed reference to the fact that the Russians have their own atomic weapons, said:

"We are at any time prepared to lay aside all weapons — including atomic weapons—if the Soviet Union does the same."

CLASPED HANDS

Earlier, Soviet and West German leaders clasped hands over their first pacts with each other. But although the red flag waved over Bonn, Mikoyan was told that Germans fear the Soviet Union.

Cordiality was tempered by caution from the time the Soviet deputy premier arrived for the first visit by a Soviet leader since the Bonn republic was established in 1949.

CONSULAR OFFICES

The four agreements, drawn up during nine months of negotiations in Moscow, call for an exchange of $375,000,000 worth of goods over the next three years and eventual establishment of consular offices in Bonn and Moscow.

Mikoyan expressed hope the accords would lead to further agreements, and Von Brentano made a formal statement praising the improvement in Soviet-West German relations.

RESTRAINT ABANDONED

But the formal restraint of the ceremonies was abandoned at a subsequent diplomatic reception when Mikoyan encountered Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss. Mikoyan, a swarthy Armenian noted for his wit, rose when Strauss, a big, red-faced Bavarian, strode in and a crowd gathered around them.

AFRAID OF YOU

After shaking hands, Strauss declared: "We are not building up our army for aggressive purposes. It's because we are afraid of you."

"Afraid of us?" Mikoyan said with a grin, "you have nothing to fear—our purposes are purely peaceful."

"Ah," said Strauss, "but we are a pygmy. And pygmies are afraid of giants."

"But this giant," Mikoyan shot back, "doesn't want to hurt anybody."

Arctic Surprise

West to Offer New Arms Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The West has decided to depart from its stand that its entire disarmament plan be considered as one package, informed sources said last night.

The United States and its Western partners will ask Russia to discuss its new plan at a Security Council meeting next week, the sources said. The plan involves setting up an inspection system to prevent surprise attack in the arctic.

The West previously has felt that an inspection system should embrace a much larger area of the world.

AMBASSADORS PARLEY

The West's new decision was taken at a meeting of the ambassadors of Britain, France and Canada with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Washington yesterday, the sources said.

It was understood that the West would propose that a joint East-West study group be set up by the Security Council to discuss measures against sneak attacks in the Arctic.

Russia last year rejected the West's package disarmament proposal which suggested that the Arctic, Alaska, part of Canada, Scandinavia and Siberia be open to aerial inspection in accordance with President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan. Instead, Russia proposed a plan which would put most of the United States and a small wedge of the Soviet Union under inspection.

MENACE TO PEACE

The West's decision to discuss the Arctic came after the Soviet Union charged that H-bombers of the U.S. Strategic Air Command were flying toward Russian borders in the Arctic regions and menacing world peace.

Last Monday, Russia tried to get the UN Security Council to call a halt to such flights but withdrew a resolution to this effect when it became clear that a council majority opposed the resolution.

Russia's action in raising the H-bomber charge opened the door for further Security Council debate on disarmament.

Army Nears Rebel Capital

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian government forces are 12 miles from the rebel capital of Bukittinggi in central Sumatra, Premier Djuanda said Friday night.

Teamster Parley Opens

VANCOUVER (CP) — Union bosses and construction officials began negotiations Friday to end a nine-week teamsters' strike which has almost paralyzed British Columbia's multi-million-dollar construction industry.

The 187 striking teamsters are seeking increased wages and fringe benefits.

Attending the meeting between Teamsters' Local 213 and the B.C. Heavy Construction Association are Al Crowder, west coast representative of James Hoffa, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters; Harold Thurion, head of the union's construction division and Calvert Baker, president of the construction association.

A union spokesman said two hours after the talks began Friday: "Nothing definite has been resolved."

He could not estimate how long the private talks might continue.

Satellite Delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Technical difficulties forced the navy Friday night to postpone until next week its attempt to launch a new Vanguard rocket with a 20-inch satellite.

Expanding Trade Of U.K.-Canada Benefits U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Friday night that a desire for greater trade between Canada and the United Kingdom should in the long run benefit the United States as well.

Speaking briefly to a Canadian government dinner for an 11-man United Kingdom trade delegation, the prime minister told the visiting businessmen that on their month-long tour of Canada he hopes they will see "something of the opportunities available" in this country for trade and investment.

But this hope evinced "no departure from the geographical considerations which we must respect," he added.

LARGE DEFICIT

On trade matters, Mr. Diefenbaker referred to Canada's large deficit in its trade with the United States while the U.K. has a deficit in its trade with Canada.

There were many commodities that accounted for Canada's trade deficit with the U.S. that could be bought from the U.K.

"For that reason we have said we are endeavoring to achieve a more diversified trade."

He added that this attitude "has not created any animosities."

INDISCRETION

He suggested that it would be "the height of indiscretion" for Canada to invite from the United Kingdom "competition we are not designed to meet."

Canada would rather buy from the U.K. a "portion" of the goods it now imports from the U.S., thereby creating a "beneficial" situation for both the U.S. and Canada by strengthening the Canadian economy. This would also provide the U.K. with more dollars with which to buy Canadian exports.

"That's not a policy based on fantasy," he said.

Turning to the Commonwealth trade and economic conference scheduled for Montreal in September, he said he hopes it will be able to work out many mutual problems, including difficulties of converting one currency for another.

Nova Scotia Plans Tax

HALIFAX (CP) — The Nova Scotia government Friday proposed a three-per-cent retail sales tax to pay the province's share of the national hospital insurance plan.

Tito Soothes Kremlin

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (Reuters)—Yugoslavia expressed readiness Friday night for "sincere co-operation" with the Soviet bloc on a basis of "frankness and clarity."

Publication of the statement was seen as an attempt by President Tito to reduce the temperature engendered by four days of sharp criticism of Russian policy.

The aim, observers said, appeared to be a last-minute effort to avert an open clash and to ease the way for Moscow to tone down its own attacks on Yugoslav "revisionism."

Yugoslav sources said Tito is unlikely to continue criticism of the Soviet bloc in such sharp terms as expressed in the last few days when he winds up the congress today.

No More CBC Governors?

Brand New Board May Run Radio, TV

OTTAWA (CP)—Legislation setting up a semi-judicial board to regulate Canadian radio and television broadcasting is expected to come before Parliament at the session starting May 12.

There are reports in the broadcasting industry that the body may be made up of five members employed full time, much like the board of transport commissioners.

VARIED TALENTS

Probably the head of the board will have some judicial experience. Other members may have some background in financial matters and in various aspects of broadcasting.

It would replace the CBC board of governors as the regulatory body over both publicly and privately-owned broadcasting.

Since the Conservative government took office last June three members of the 11-member CBC board have retired upon completing their three-year terms. No successors have been appointed.

Retirement of four other members, scheduled to end their terms within a year, would leave the board without its quorum of five unless new appointments are made.

The fact that the Conservative government has not appointed new members to the CBC board is regarded by some as a sign that it will disappear as the regulatory authority in broadcasting.

'JUDGE AND JURY'

In forecasting during the election campaign that a new broadcasting board would be established, Mr. Diefenbaker noted that at present the publicly-owned CBC is both "judge and jury" in controversies between the CBC and private stations.

Opening up of Canada's large centres to private TV likely will be one of the new board's biggest problems. A dozen or so bidders, including owners of existing radio stations, are reported ready to apply for TV licences in such lucrative markets as Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver.

FINANCE PROBLEM

Another problem facing the government, and which likely will be part of its legislative program involves the financing of the CBC, whose needs have been estimated by the Fowler royal commission at about $470,000,000 during the next six years.

At present the CBC is financed by parliamentary grants, an earmarked excise tax of 15 per cent on radio and TV sets and parts, and commercial revenues amounting to about 30 per cent of total revenues.

Japan's Diet Dissolved

TOKYO (UP) — Prime Minister Nobusko Kisho yesterday dissolved the Japanese Diet (parliament) to prepare for new elections May 22.

Kishi acted before a Socialist motion of no confidence in his Liberal-Democratic government could be brought to a vote.

CAIRO (CP) — Egypt announced yesterday that 16 British soldiers and two army vessels detained in Egyptian territorial waters on the Libyan frontier have been released.

Charges Simplified

Penalties Reduced In Bribery Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bribery-conspiracy charges against former B.C. lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three other individuals and four companies, have been rephrased by the Crown, it was disclosed Friday.

The net result of the change is that maximum penalties under the charges have been reduced by nine years to five years from a possible previous maximum penalty of 14 years in each case.

The trial will open May 1 in Assize Court before Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, with Victor L. Dryer, QC, and Stewart McMorran, conducting the Crown's case.

Charged with Sommers are H. Wilson Gray, John M. Gray, C. D. Schultz, Pacific Coast Services Limited, Evergreen Lumber Sales Limited, Charles D. Schultz Company Limited and B.C. Forest Products.

The charges as laid by the Crown and on which a month-long preliminary hearing was conducted, referred to "money or valuable consideration" passing between the accused contrary to law.

The rephrased charges, based on section 102 of the Criminal Code headed "frauds upon the government," refer to "loans, rewards, and benefits as consideration for his (Sommers) co-operation, assistance and exercise of influence in connection with matters of business relating to the government..."

Schultz Asks Name Change

A defendant in the Sommers bribery conspiracy case has decided on a change of name, it was disclosed yesterday.

G. D. Schultz Company of Vancouver has given notice in the B.C. gazette that it will apply to the registrar of companies in four weeks for a change of name to "Consolidated Services Ltd."

The company has been committed for trial on charges arising out of an accusation of bribery against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers.

Thousands Search ... ... Deadly Bogs in Dark

Snakes Threaten Lost Child

COCOA, Fla. (UP)—A huge search party beat through snake-infested thick brush and marshes last night looking for a three-year-old girl who wandered away from her home.

The missing child was identified as Judy Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Peterson of nearby Rockledge.

The family missed the little girl about 1 p.m. and first efforts to find her were unsuccessful. Police were not called, however, until about 5.30 p.m.

An hour later, the Cocoa police department had organized a mammoth search that included a National Guard company stationed at Cocoa, two troops from civic organization, sheriff's deputies, the Florida highway patrol and all Cocoa police reserves. They were joined by scores of private citizen volunteers who came in from the surrounding towns of Eau Gallie, Melbourne and Titusville, after appeals were made over area radio and television stations.

The Florida highway patrol brought in two bloodhounds. And the Civil Air Patrol set up a ground mobile unit and prepared to put search planes into the air at dawn if the child is not found before then. Patrick air force base sent over some 262 airmen who volunteered to search for Judy.

Dave Frankel, general manager of the Rockledge Country Club, reported "there are thousands of people tramping around in the dark out here."

He said the search throng stretched along a front some five and one-half miles long, threading through dense underbrush, bogs, marshes and pine woods.

"It is really rugged country around here and even the natives don't know all the paths," Frankel said. "It is full of wild life, poisonous moccasins and rattlesnakes. We've got a big bull alligator in one of our ponds on the golf course."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A BULLET sang past the hunter's head. He plunged for cover behind a log. The war had taught him to move first and figure it later.

Soon he heard a crackle of steps in the brush, and felt rage boiling inside him as he stared into a puzzled, familiar face. He remembered that face under a steel helmet.

"You're just the kind of slob who would shoot without looking, aren't you?" he said coldly. "Don't you know the difference between a man and a deer? You wetre a fool in the army and you haven't learned any sense yet." You don't even deserve to be alive.'

"I'm sorry, Jim," the man stuttered. "The . . . the sun in my eyes."

"Sorry? Too b . . . late for that," said the hunter. His anger was shaping into an intention. Only half-aware of what he was doing, like a practised driver changing gears on a hill, he swung the rifle and fired. The bullet caught his old comrade on top of the head.

The hunter felt a twinge of distaste in his stomach as he looked down. But he had no regrets. He walked into the village and reported a fatal accident. The coroner's jury believed him, although some people wondered why such a careful man had forgotten his discipline of safety.

He kept the secret for the rest of his life. But he wrote a letter confessiong what he had done, and hid it in place where it was found after he died.

Police still don't know. One of the few men who read the confession, the one-time president of a fish and game club in the Fraser Valley, told me about it, for a reason.

"Some of the so-called hunting accidents are not accidents at all, but murder," he said. "Every hunting accident should be treated as a criminal offence. It might be ordinary carelessness, or it might be murder, with no evidence. I'd like to see them lay a charge pretty well every time there is a hunting accident."

* * *

He went on to narrate how another man had "accidentally" shot a companion to death in the woods—and a few months later, married the widow.

In a third case, a man who was known to be sweet on a fellow-townsman's wife went duck-hunting with the unsuspecting husband.

Leaving the husband in the duck-blind, he set off through the reeds and tall grass, announcing that he was going to raise some ducks that he thought to be sitting in a nearby stretch of marsh.

Unknown to him, a third man had joined this companion in the duck-blind. He was a doctor of the town, a shrewd suspicious observer of people. He had been keeping an eye on this affair.

"I think your friend is coming back this way," he whispered to the man in the duck-blind. Without further explanation, he whipped off his companion's hat and lifted it on the barrel of his gun.

A gun roared, and the hat went spinning. It was riddled with shot. The two men jumped from the blind and grabbed the would-be killer, who had deliberately fired from close quarters to blast his victim's head off.

"We'll give you 24 hours to pack up and get out of town," the doctor said.

This was at the beginning of the 1914-18 war. The following day (my informant tells me) the man joined the army.

Only three men know why he was in such a rush to get out of that quiet Fraser Valley town.

B.C.'s Birthday Fills Magazine

British Columbia will hold the Canadian spotlight when the coming issue of Maclean's Magazine hits the newsstands in a few days.

The entire issue is devoted to B.C. with articles ranging from Victoria's Government Street to a special album of paintings by nine of the province's best-known artists.

The magazine's managing editor, B.C.-born Pierre Berton will present a bound copy of the special issue to Mayor Percy Scurrah on Wednesday at 3 p.m. in city hall.

To Win Sea Limit Fight

Must Get Support

OTTAWA (CP) — Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton expressed optimism Friday that Canada's proposal to give coastal states exclusive fishing rights up to 12 miles from their coastline will be approved some time in the future.

A law-of-the-sea conference concluding in Geneva rejected proposals for limiting the extent of territorial waters.

Mr. Hamilton noted the vote on the Canadian measure was 35 in favor, 30 against and 20 abstentions. It needed a two-thirds majority for adoption.

"Frankly, my reaction is that the decision was a political one," he said.

"It now is our diplomatic task to bring to support us some of the countries which abstained from voting or opposed our measure."

Vancouver Knife-Slaying

200 Questioned In Murder Case

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two hundred men have been checked by Vancouver police in connection with the April 3 knife murder of Mrs. Evelyn Roche.

Detectives said they have spent a total of 1,300 hours investigating since the woman's body was found in an East End lane.

They have checked every male in every house within a 12-block radius of the murder scene and the whereabouts of every man at the time of the murder. All known sex deviates have been questioned and investigation has been made of 24 pieces of bloodstained clothing turned up by cleaning establishments within 24 hours of the murder.

In addition to the time spent by detectives, uniformed constables, called in to process a flood of reports, spent 448 hours sorting and checking.

Investigators are sure the murderer left the scene with part of his clothing soaked in blood.

Police now are offering a reward of $2,000 for information leading to the murderer's arrest.

Police Pay Gambler

VANCOUVER (CP)—The police commission is paying a gambler $100 to cover his losses in city jail.

Reason is that police gave his wrist watch and natty blue tie to another man when both were released after 237 men had been arrested in a gambling raid.

The commission heard of the case and decided to pay.

City Student

'Pilgrim' To Visit New York

A Greater Victoria Grade 11 student will be sent again this year on an all-expenses paid "pilgrimage" to New York and the United Nations.

The trip is financed by the No. 1 Victoria Odd Fellows Lodge and the Rebekah Lodges, Carne 45 and Colfax 1.

The student will be chosen at a public gathering where 10 students—two from each high school in the area—will compete in an oratory contest on the subject: "What branch of the United Nations best serves humanity?"

The two representatives from each school will be chosen on the basis of scholastic standards, ability, character, personality, general fitness and co-operation with the project.

Ultimate winner at the speech contest in the Odd Fellows Hall, 1315½ Douglas at 8 p.m., Tuesday, will be chosen by a panel of three judges.

The winner will visit a number of cities in Canada and the U.S. on the tour besides spending a week at the United Nations assembly.

On his return he will be expected to address students of schools in the area, on request, and will also report to a joint meeting of the sponsors.

Photos Galore On Display At Empress

More than 300 photographs will be on display for the public Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Empress Hotel, during the convention of the Professional Photographers' Association of British Columbia.

One topical subject and one relatively new photographic form will be featured—pictures of the Ripple Rock explosion, and color prints, rather than transparencies.

Entries in the salon have come from all over this province, Alberta and the Pacific Northwestern United States. After being judged for awarding of trophies in the various classes, the photographs will be set up tonight for the display to follow.

The Ripple Rock pictures include one taken in the first split second showing water rising over the blast area.

Swedes Reject Socialism

Pension Hike Plan Kills Government

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Sweden's Parliament boosted some social security benefits Friday but rejected a bill to force employers to shoulder increased benefits for 7,000,000 Swedes. As a result, the socialist government fell.

Prime Minister Tage Erlander, leader of the long-dominant Social Democrat party, immediately asked King Gustaf Adolf to order Parliament's dissolution and new elections.

Sweden has a basic pension for old people effective at 67 and paid out of government funds. There also are private pension systems.

The Social Democrats proposed supplementary pensions aimed at giving all usefully employed Swedes increased benefits totalling 65 per cent of their average income during their 15 best earning years. The pensions were to have been tagged to the living cost index.

Employers would have to pay the total cost of such supplements.

Ballet on Again Today

'A Great Experience'

By BERT BINNY

The National Ballet of Canada opened with the first of three performances in Victoria last night. There were few empty seats in the Royal Theatre.

The vehicle selected to carry the undoubted artistry of the company was Tschaikowsky's "Swan Lake" with choreography by M. Petipa and L. Ivanova. Today "Le Carnaval" and "Offenbach In The Underworld" will be shown both afternoon and evening with the addition of dances from "Sleeping Beauty" at the matinee and "Winter Night" at the later show.

The National Ballet has been received with enthusiastic acclaim during the past 10 weeks in the United States. That such acclaim was fully deserved is patently clear from last night's performance and the company has done a wonderful job in demonstrating the artistic abilities of Canadians and, thus, in promoting even greater understanding between the two countries, this simply because art is universally recognized.

"Swan Lake" started a trifle shakily but soon settled down into a stellar performance. Lois Smith as "Odette" ("Odile") and David Adams as "Siegfried" were wonderful.

There was something quite special, also, about the four delightful "Cygnets" in Act II.

Quite apart from their technical dancing excellence, the cast provided an amazing example of successful story-telling without words.

The scenery and costumes by Kay Ambrose were truly beautiful, adding to the already high effect of the dancing.

The visit of the National Ballet company rises above the level of enjoyment.

It is a great experience.

Japanese Protest A-Tests

TOKYO (UP)—Thousands of Japanese students demonstrated in front of the United States embassy here yesterday to protest American nuclear tests scheduled for Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific next week.

Police estimates ranged from 2,300 students to near 6,000.

LONDON (UP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said yesterday Britain would carry out its planned spring H-bomb tests in the central Pacific despite pressure from the socialists.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission said Friday night scientists from other countries including Canada will be given data on the fusion and fission power of a United States hydrogen bomb to be tested this summer in the Pacific.

Commonsense Caution

"THIS is no time for drastic or over-demanding action by any sector of our economy," Prime Minister Diefenbaker told a labor conference at Winnipeg this week. "I will say the same to business . . . We can't meet unemployment if we are priced out of world markets," he continued in a warning which unmistakably was intended for the whole nation and not only for the limited audience which listened to his remarks. The advice is timely, and in the degree to which it is followed must rest a good deal of the answer to the question as to when and how Canada will pull out of the present pause in its own progress. The prime minister was stating a hard-core fact, without either panic or gloom.

Not everyone can be an economist, and even the best of economists have patently been puzzled by the present state of the world's affairs in the exchange of goods and services which makes commerce. As a heavily exporting nation the current situation is one which affects every part of Canada directly, from the Maritimes with its fisheries to British Columbia fruit in the Okanagan Valley. We still have the blocked-out and ready resources of raw and other materials which up to now have formed the cornerstone of our business with the world, but the basic tempo of world trade has slowed down and competition for markets risen in precisely the same degree.

On top of that are currency tangles of the post-war period which by no means have yet been ironed out. To settle the adverse balance of its external trade for all of 1957 Canada had to dip into its gold reserves for the first time in several years. That position has been slowly improving this year, but it has also been attended by reduction in the gross turnover including exports and imports. The critical task is to hold our place in the markets of the world, without any wide swings in the value of our currency. That can be achieved by effort and production unattended by major cost rises; but it could be frustrated by internal inflation which rendered Canada's primary output unsaleable abroad. Without its chief exports this country would find itself seriously crippled.

It was of the wider economic outlook for the world that Mr. Diefenbaker appeared to be thinking when he spoke at Winnipeg. There was breadth and vision in what he had to say, and a timely warning. Canada cannot look the recession away, but it can patiently work its way out of it in time by using commonsense and its native ingenuity. There are many who will agree with the prime minister, also, that internal accord remains the first requisite.

The Christie Point Petition

IT is good to see that the groups of citizens who have interested themselves in the future of Christie Point in Portage Inlet are determined to pursue the park proposal. The first round was won in the recent decision of the provincial government not to permit the subdivision of the peninsula into residential lots. There can be little doubt that the government's rejection of the building plan was influenced largely by the protests of the many organizations opposed to anything that would spoil the natural beauty of one of the few remaining areas of wild land close to the city.

Restriction of the housing project, however, does not necessarily save the peninsula for public enjoyment in perpetuity. That could be accomplished only by government acquisition, since it lies in unorganized territory. Unless that were done, some other government in the future could have different ideas about the use which might be made of the point. For the province to take it over would be in keeping with the government's new policy of establishing park classification for various undeveloped areas abutting on tidewater to preserve public access in perpetuity and save them from private exploitation.

Both in the public interest and in justice to the owners of the point purchase by the government at a fair price would appear to be the best course of action. The owners are entitled to consideration since due to provincial intervention they have been left with land on their hands for which no profitable use immediately appears.

The petition praying the government to acquire Christie Point deserves strong support; in later years if not immediately the public would have cause to be grateful for that application of foresight. No large expenditure should be involved, for it is not necessary to "improve" the point, merely to secure it and save it from being spoiled.

Too Low for Comfort

PERHAPS because we are attuned to the jet age, whether in the air or on land, high-speed sound tends to have a thrilling effect. The roar of engines stirs the pulse and there is an involuntary response to acceleration. One can have too much of a good thing, however. The jet trainer plane that twice buzzed the city two days ago seemed too close for comfort; it startled as well as entertained.

How low it was flying one does not know; possibly it was within the prescribed altitude limits set by the RCAF even if it did not sound or look as though it were. The plane was certainly low enough to cause a certain amount of apprehension as well as momentary dislocation of official business. Many a citizen felt inclined to duck for cover, needlessly perhaps but in order to play safe.

Apparently the Vancouver-based trainer was exercising with naval ships in the Strait, and since this is part of the defensive structure flying over and in the vicinity of the city is bound at times to be unavoidable. Whether it is always necessary however may be another matter; possibly pilots give way at times to the urge to indulge in a side jaunt of their own.

The point of concern is that there is always a certain amount of risk in flying over areas crowded with homes and people. The possibility of accident cannot be discounted, especially when aircraft seem much closer to ground level than appears prudent. No doubt with the many centennial events scheduled for this summer aerial displays of one kind or another will be part of the program, and it would be reassuring to know that any unauthorized flying will be frowned upon and every possible precaution taken for the public safety.

The jet plane buzzing of the other day raised some doubts on this point, and seemingly not without cause.

Interpreting the News

Accra Meeting of Ministers

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

NOW that the first conference of independent African states has ended, it will be interesting to see just how much co-operation will result between Arab and Negro nations.

Because the meetings at Accra, Ghana, were held in private the world will not know—at least for a time—what arguments may have occurred and what was the background of announced plans.

It is no great surprise that the foreign ministers agreed to follow a basic foreign policy of non-entanglement with the two great ideological power groupings, the West and communism.

If anything, the announcement could be taken as a behind-the-scenes victory for the West, especially in view of its moderate wording.

* * *

But such a statement may mean little. It is the practical application of policy, not high-flown promises of neutrality, that count.

President Nasser of Egypt, for instance, has long protested that he believes in "positive neutrality." But the West hopes that all independent African countries won't be neutral in the same way as Egypt.

Certainly Egypt's ideas of neutrality are different from those of Ethiopia. Variations of what neutrality means will be found in all the other countries represented — Ghana, Liberia, the Sudan, Tunisia and Morocco.

Perhaps the most interesting thing about the conference is the fact that it was held at all, even in a watered-down form. It would have been practically impossible only 10 years ago, and showed the fast emergence of African peoples as a force to be reckoned with.

* * *

It was intended as an African "summit" meeting of heads of government, and Nasser said at first that he would attend; as also did President Habib Bourguiba of Tunis and others.

But as time went on it was down-graded to a conference of foreign ministers. South Africa was the only independent nation on the continent not to send a representative.

This wasn't surprising as a representative of South Africa's apartheid government, sworn to policies of white supremacy, would probably not be comfortable in Ghana, which is ruled by blacks.

* * *

It is just this kind of common cause against whites that has brought Arabs and black together, with dreams of "distinctive African personality" in world affairs.

South Africa was invited to Accra, all right, but it was obvious that the invitation was nothing more than a gesture.

Robert Burns

Legend And Fact

"BURNS was supposed to be a drinking poet—even a drunken one—and I sometimes think his memory is rather drowned in whisky than honored in knowledge of his poetry," said Mrs. Grace Stuart broadcasting in the BBC's Midland Home Service about Scotland's national poet, whose birthday on January 25 is honored by Scots all over the world.

The legend that Burns had drunk himself to an untimely death at the age of 37 still persisted, Mrs. Stuart said, because "we like a legend, about anyone, any day, better than a fact. Especially if it's a legend that makes us feel gently and painlessly moral."

The fact, as opposed to the legend, said Mrs. Stuart, was that Burns was not even an unduly heavy drinker in a heavily-drinking age, as James Hogg, the poet known as the "Ettrick Shepherd" and Burn's contemporary, had pointed out. "The Burns fact," said Mrs. Stuart, "is that he broke his heart as a teenager on his father's farm in cruel overwork and equally cruel under-nourishment, and died at very short last of endocarditis, and not of drink at all."

No one could make a legend, or any moral capital, out of that. The moral judgement to be made was of an unpopular kind, because it did not make people feel superior. Wordsworth had sentimentalized over Burns following his plough "in glory and in joy," but in fact he had followed it living on a miserable diet, working too many hours a day and sitting up until midnight to get himself some education. The glory had been that "he kept his courage, and could jest as he went to his unnecessary death." At just about the same time Mozart and his wife were dancing in a fireless room to keep themselves warm.

* * *

"I'm glad we are nearly done with these unnecessary gallantries, these killing poverties and fruitless hardships," said Mrs. Stuart. But there was still some danger of romanticizing them. In the 18th century there had been no stethoscopes and no anaesthesia, so no one had known that Burns was suffering from heart disease. The doctors had prescribed work when he needed rest, cold when he needed warmth. The heart condition—which could only be diagnosed much later from his letters—brought not only pain and premature death but depression and a sense of guilt.

Time after time, in letters to his friends and in his Commonplace Book he had written of "the hypochondria which I fear worse than the devil."

Burns and his contemporaries had not known what was wrong with him, Mrs. Stuart said, but even now the legend was only slowly giving place to the fact. This was due, she felt, to the pleasure of the judgment—"the little bit of moral standing to be had out of feeling oneself superior." She suspected the praiseworthiness of the saying "To understand all is to forgive all," for who could aspire to understand ALL?

Modern knowledge, medical and psychological, had done away with many "unnecessary guilts, unjustifiable judgments and arrogant pities," Mrs. Stuart concluded. "In my view legends about people may be comfortingly romantic, but truths are both juster and kinder. To understand all is certainly beyond us, but to KNOW—just something—moderates judgment and may leave us not quite so courageous as Robert Burns."

Gerald Waring

Reports from Ottawa

PRIME Minister Diefenbaker's disavowal of any intention to reduce imports from the United States by 15 per cent may be meant to clear up a misunderstanding, but the main effect has been to increase uncertainty as to just what the government is trying to do.

Why did Diefenbaker wait more than nine months to deny that a 15 per cent cut was his administration's objective?

* * *

Is the answer that relations with the U.S. are now becoming sticky, and he wants to ease the situation?

Is it that the election is now over, and the 15 per cent idea has served its purpose?

Is it that Diefenbaker now realizes he cannot deliver a 15 per cent cut without imposing import restrictions or discriminatory tariffs?

And why too, in disavowing the 15 per cent figure, did Diefenbaker not make it clear whether this constitutes a junking of the whole concept of diversion? As the matter stands now, it is anyone's guess whether (1) diversion has been abandoned as government policy; (2) the government hopes to divert less than 15 per cent, and (3) the government hopes to divert more than 15 per cent.

Only thing clear is that the confusion is not very diverting.

* * *

Looking over the notes I took at Diefenbaker's "diversion" press conference last July 6, I do not find him stating categorically that "We will divert 15 per cent." That is the point he makes now.

The way he put it is that "Diversion of 15 per cent of United States exports to Canada, which are readily available in the United Kingdom, would provide us with markets." He rebuffed a questioner by saying he was "not going into the matter of (competitive) prices." Then he enhanced the impression that he had just stated new government policy.

"There's the will, the way and the need," he stated gravely.

* * *

From mid-October until the end of January he sat in the Commons and heard leading parliamentarians refer to the government's objective of switching 15 per cent of our imports from the U.S. to the U.K.

Opposition leader St. Laurent spoke of "the policy he announced . . . that the government will seek to divert 15 per cent of our purchases from the U.S. to Commonwealth countries."

CCF leader M. J. Coldwell: "The prime minister announced his aim . . . of diverting 15 per cent . . ."

Diefenbaker's explanation now is that he couldn't be "bothered" correcting the impression that 15 per cent was a goal rather than being merely an example.

* * *

Finance Minister Fleming stated the policy "was to seek a diversion from the U.S. to the U.K. of purchases that Canada is now making from the U.S." He explained that Diefenbaker believed a 15 per cent switch "would redress a trade situation which I think must and does give a great many Canadians serious concern." And without reference to any percentage figure, Fleming stated the diversion idea "was put forward by the prime minister as an objective and it remains an objective of the Canadian government."

Or does it? Fleming spoke Oct. 23. Since then we've had an election, a buying mission to Britain that seems to have produced rather nebulous results, U.S. restrictions on imports of Canadian oil, and stronger pressure in the U.S. for higher tariffs on Canadian lead, zinc, copper and fish.

* * *

Diefenbaker's seemingly softer attitude may be calculated to reassure the Americans and forestall retaliatory action. But it does nothing to encourage the British, or those Canadians who are bucking for bigger trade with Britain.

The Packsack

A Druggist's Shelves

By GREGORY CLARK

TWO dozen pills I had to get on the doctor's prescription for an allergy the houseful of spring flowers aroused in me, creating about five thousand mosquito bites all over my hide, cost $6.

And when I let out a wild yell, the druggist invited me in behind. There, on shelves fourteen feet high, and in cabinets and drawers, and out back in the corridors and down cellar, what appeared to be a million bottles, large and small, were arranged in curiously mathematical precision.

* * *

He reached down an amber bottle with about 100 pills in it.

"This bottle," he said, "cost me, from the manufacturer, $38. I haven't sold any for four months. But I must have them. They must be here, instantly available."

He took down another bottle and examined the cryptic pencilled marks.

"This cost me," he said, "$33.60 for 100 pills. I have sold twelve since Christmas. But I dare not be without them. Immediately.

He turned to his helper.

"Andrew," he said, "how many different items would you say we have in stock in this store?"

"Between 20,000 and 30,000," said Andrew. "I think my last count, a year ago, was 27,500."

* * *

The druggist not only has to have all these on hand. He must know exactly what they are. And where, on his stiff-packed shelves, they are.

I paid the $6 for my pills and tipped the messenger boy, who was sitting out by the magazine racks reading comic books, 25 cents for no reason whatever, and much to his astonishment.

On the Record

Ambassador Cliburn

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

THE President, via the American ambassador to Moscow, has conveyed his congratulations to young Van Cliburn, and invited him to visit the White House upon his return to the United States.

The action seems to this columnist a little belated.

We would have anticipated that the young Texan who walked off with the coveted gold medal in a musical competition that in Russia induces the excitement of the World Series here, would have instantly received a congratulatory cable from President Eisenhower, not only for his own great satisfaction and happiness, but to open and read to his international colleagues. The youth who, embraced by Khrushchev, said he was a "sweet man," would certainly have responded as warmly and spontaneously to such an immediate communication. But better late than never.

* * *

Van Cliburn has appeared with the New York Philharmonic and many others since he won the Leventritt Award in 1954. From what his admirers (and even his critics) say, it is easy to understand why he received the immense ovation that he did in Moscow. He has an immensely moving talent, full of poetry and romantic feeling, a talent of an almost vanished sort, not quite acceptable to modern musical snobs, who in music as in other arts, dismiss feeling as somehow "corny."

That he is, at 23, splendidly equipped technically as the result of enormous musical dedication and work must be taken for granted. One does not win Moscow's gold medal without it.

But one does not move an audience to wild ovations by technique alone. That is done by communication. And I find it significant that the two most effective ambassadors yet sent abroad from this country are both musicians, with an extraordinary communicative power: Miss Marian Anderson and, now, Van Cliburn.

* * *

I also find it significant that although neither has very intimate connections with organized religions, both are profoundly religious.

An intimate friend of Mr. Cliburn tells me that on the Sunday he was to appear for the first time with the Philadelpia Orchestra, he inquired anxiously, "Shall I stay home and practice or go to church?" He decided on church.

There is a lovingness about the really, though inconspicuously, religious that communicates.

"I'm really a ham," young Cliburn said to another friend. "When I walk out on the stage I just love everybody." So, of course—for such is the law of human nature—he is loved in return. Such people never make false moves, though none of them is calculated. They say the right things, do the right things, and disarm everybody—except possibly music critics. On stage or off they are always on the right channel.

* * *

Young Mr. Cliburn approached the bear as Androcles approached the lion, in one of Bernard Shaw's most delightful plays. And, like the lion, the bear kissed him. He went to the summit and played Tchaikovsky, and the summit delightedly gave him a gold medal. It was a complete conquest to everybody's satisfaction.

The whole story is delightful. Van Cliburn is a grass-roots native American from Texas, associated with tall men (which he is), noble cowboys and badmen, both equally quick on the trigger. Texans are uniformly represented (on TV at least), as continually shooting each other when not spending oil money like the late Roman emperors.

If Van Cliburn's country were to turn up a musician, one would expect an Elvis Presley or a rock 'n' roller. With Van Cliburn, neither oil-rich, trigger-happy, nor holy or unholy roller, one must abandon such generalizations.

The Russians are a highly responsive audience who can freeze as well as thaw. In Russia my impression was that they are less conformist in this small area of freedom than we. They don't wait to read what the critics say to learn whether they really ought to like or dislike a show.

In the case of the young Texan, critics and audience agreed, but the audience expressed itself first.

With the Classics

The children were shouting together
And racing along the sands,
A glimmer of dancing shadows,
A dovelike flutter of hands.
The stars were shouting in heaven,
The sun was chasing the moon:
The game was the same as the children's.
They danced to the self-same tune.

—GEORGE RUSSELL.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

The cross has been called "Life's Great Illuminant." It exposes men's sin. It discloses the nature of the world. It imposes a cross on us. It encloses us in the love of God.

It exposes man's sin—Every evil that crucified Christ is present in society today—false friends, religious bigotry, racial prejudice, mob passion, political expediency, business greed, love of pleasure, and hatred of goodness and truth.

The cross discloses the nature of the world. It has been truly said that you cannot understand nature without man, man without God, God without Christ, Christ without the cross, or we add, the cross without the resurrection.

Thus the doctrine of the atonement has been an effort to explain experience. Since some things "break through language and escape," each theory grasps only part of the truth, but each one is drawn from life.

Some writers drew a metaphor from friendship. Jesus said, "Greater love hath no man than this, than a man lay down his life for his friends." So they spoke reconciliation and substitution.

Others in a world familiar with slavery spoke of "ransom". Some drew a metaphor from family life, picturing Christ as "the elder brother" who could redeem the poor relative pressed into service for an unpayable debt.

Christ a 'Kinsman'

From the fact of the unity of the human race men knew Christ as a "kinsman" who had entered into man's sin and suffering. Has not every great heart felt this "identification of sympathy" with the hurt and oppressed, involved and responsible in the tragedy of his time?

Still others drew a metaphor from society where an offence against law and rebellion against government must meet severe punishment. Had not man offended against the laws of the universe? So also a metaphor was drawn from the religious practice of man making a sacrifice to an offended God, and Christ became the supreme sacrifice—"The lamb slain from the foundation of the world."

War was common then as now, but men felt that a cosmic conflict was taking place against powers of darkness, against forces of disorder and rebellion. A creative process was subduing chaotic nature and hostile enemies to harmony, light, and order, so Christ was called the "Captain of our Salvation".

Condemned to Sainthood

We have then these different theories of ransom, moral satisfaction, sub-situation, and moral influence, and "creative conflict. The important fact is not academic theory. Do you live by the cross?

To live by the cross means to take up a cross. "The Cross of Christ condemns me to be a saint," said an African convert. Asked why he was returning when it meant certain death, a martyr answered, "The Son of God who loved me and gave himself for me." No longer can we live selfishly for comfort and pleasure.

To live by the cross means to be enclosed in the love of God. A Mohammedan tradition says that at creation God broke clay into pieces. Some he tossed upward saying, "These to heaven and I care not." Some He tossed down saying, "These to Hell and I care not."

But Christian faith says, "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him need not perish, but have everlasting life."

Forgiveness means "giving for." Christ died for us—so we are forgiven. Christ rose for us—so we are redeemed. God loves us—so we do not fight a lone fight against a vast indifference. God is with us—so Victory!

Coldwell Writes For the Colonist

Weekly Forum For Views

By M. J. COLDWELL

M. J. COLDWELL

OTTAWA—This weekly column will, I hope, provide me with the opportunity of expressing my own personal opinions on current events both domestic and international. For almost 23 years my seat in the nation's democratic forum of Parliament enabled me to do this.

When it was realized across the country on March 31, that my parliamentary voice had been silenced, many of the hundreds of letters which reached me expressed the hope that I would find an opportunity to express my views regularly in the press. This newspaper has provided me with the medium they hoped I might find.

PAST IGNORED

I do not propose to deal with past events except in so far as they shed light on the present. It is often said that a politician can expect only ingratitude on the part of the public in the end. That has not been my experience.

In spite of defeat at times, public service in a democracy can be both satisfying and rewarding if one has the desire and the opportunity to be of service to his fellow citizens. This I wanted to record as I embark on what I hope may be another way of serving the country I have learned to love above all others during nearly half a century of life within it.

FATEFUL PARLIAMENT

I shall try to be objective. In about three weeks the men and women whom the people of Canada elected to govern them will assemble under the Peace Tower.

This will be a strange, perhaps a fateful Parliament. Never before in all our history has so unbalanced a Parliament assembled. In the House of Commons by the votes of the people, opposition has been reduced to a minimum.

For good or ill the House of Commons approaches a one-party assembly, the prime minister, so largely responsible for the success of his followers, a virtual dictator. The end result will be dependent on how this great power, this overwhelming majority is used. The problems confronting the government are many and challenging.

Faced with an economic recession in the United States, with huge surpluses of grain on the prairies, a dwindling demand for other primary products and a high level of unemployment, coupled with grave international problems, a heavy and prolonged session is in prospect.

In many respects circumstances are similar to those which confronted the late R. B. Bennett took office in 1930. Will the Diefenbaker government do relatively better in 1958? The answer will be the measure of success or failure of the prime minister and his government. We must wait and see.

They Died Together

STEVESTON, B.C. (CP) — A man and woman died in each other's arms early Friday after jumping from their burning boat into the Fraser River.

Albert J. Haworth, 27, and Roberta Campbell, 21, of Vancouver are belived to have died from exposure. Their bodies were found.

Their 36-foot gillnetter, Geo-Al, burned to the waterline.

The first "dictionaries" were used in Assyria and Babylonia to explain signs, not words.

Indian Names Win On Paleface Boats

OLYMPIA, Wash. (CP)—Members of the Washington State Toll Bridge Authority surrendered to the Indians Friday.

They raised the white flag and agreed to rename the two new state ferry boats with Indian names.

The boats, now under construction, are presently named Washington State and Evergreen State.

TBA members balked, however, at actually choosing the Indian names themselves.

A list of 210 names was submitted by backers of the move for renaming the boats, but the TBA decided to leave the final choice to a committee.

Safety Measures Not Good Enough

PENTICTON — Dr. J. R. Naden, chief medical officer of the Workmen's Compensation Board, told delegates to a management safety conference that the job being done in accident prevention and rehabilitation of injured workmen "is just not good enough."

The hope that the lessons and blessings of the past 100 years may lead to more Christian lives in the future, was the main theme of messages written by five Victoria leaders of religion to mark centennial Sunday.

Stated Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral:

"The general thanksgiving in the Anglican prayer book may well sound for us all in this centennial year: first hearty thanks to God for all his goodness, and second, prayer that we may thank Him not only with our lips but also in our lives."

"This is a time when we, in British Columbia, pause with gratitude and point with pride to the pioneers of the past," said Rev. Douglas B. Carr, chairman of Victoria Presbytery of the United Church.

Rt. Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, said:

"In the structure of our life in British Columbia, religion and morality, which cannot be divorced are indispensible supports. The history of these 100 years reveals this fact."

Message of Most Rev. James M. Hill, Roman Catholic Bishop of Victoria:

"Hailing the centennial anniversary of this great province of ours, so richly blessed by Divine Providence, our people offer fervent prayers of thanksgiving and gratitude to Almighty God for 100 years of continuing progress; and pledge a wholehearted dedication in the years that lie ahead, to still greater efforts, under His guidance."

Minister of First Baptist Church, Rev. G. R. Easter, wrote:

"'I have a goodly heritage,' said the Psalmist. So have we. By God's grace may we build character to match these natural resources! For the past—honor; the future—effort!"

Totem pole and totem tie were presented to London's Lord Mayor Sir Denis Truscott, left, by Archie Sturrock of Vancouver in London. Mr. Sturrock, who made presentation on behalf of people of Vancouver, is touring England with other members of Pioneers' Association.

Foreigners Invited To Check Fallout

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government announced Friday that foreign scientists would be permitted to check for themselves the instruments showing the extent of radioactive fall-out in a "clean" H-bomb test this summer.

scientists from 14 nations, including Russia, to witness in July or early August the explosion of "a large nuclear weapon."

The plan for inviting foreign scientists to witness the demonstration sprang from a statement by President Eisenhower at a news conference last July 3, when he said that if "there is another (clean bomb) test made, I am going to invite any country in the world that wants to come and see just exactly how much radioactive fall-out there is."

Assembled Thousands Will Pray for B.C.

Thousands are expected to gather in Memorial Arena Sunday evening to praise God and give thanks for His blessings to British Columbia.

The official interdenominational centennial service, it will feature as a speaker Rt. Rev. James S. Thompson, dean of theology at McGill University and moderator of the United Church of Canada.

Anglicans will mark the centennial "day of thanksgiving and prayer" with special services of their own.

SPECIAL CEREMONIES

Many other churches in the city and throughout the day ince will commemorate the day with special ceremonies and reading of the centennial proclamation.

Doors to Memorial Arena will open at 6.30 p.m. with the Salvation Army Citadel Band providing music until the service starts at 7.30 p.m.

Rt. Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, will conduct the service. Participating will be a massed choir of 300 voices directed by Roberto Wood, with Alan Langmaid at the organ.

HON. A. D. MACFARLANE

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton will preach at the morning service in Christ Church Cathedral. First lesson will be read by Hon. A. D. Macfarlane, a justice of the Supreme Court of B.C., and second lesson by Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer Pacific Coast.

Attending the service will be four provincial cabinet ministers, Mayor Percy Scurrah, reeves of Greater Victoria municipalities, and members of their councils, and other officials.

At another Anglican church, St. George the Martyr, in Cadboro Bay, a flag-raising and tree-planting ceremony will be held at 10.30 a.m.

At Roman Catholic masses on Vancouver Island, special prayers will be said.

Lift Hue Of Blue Slowly

TORONTO (BUP) — The Lord's Day Alliance of Canada, self-appointed guardians of Canada's blue-stocking Sunday laws, says there should be "an unhurried and deliberate approach toward any revision of Sunday law."

The annual report says: "It is not likely the alliance would object to a change in the present law were it possible to limit Sunday cultural activities to high-class interests. But how to impose such limits poses grave difficulty."

In City Churches

Youngsters Parade Tomorrow

Boy Scouts, Wolf Cubs, Brownies and Girl Guides will mark centennial Sunday by parading to 11 a.m. service at St. Saviour's Anglican Church, Victoria West.

The 67th anniversary of the consecration of the church will also be celebrated at that service.

* * *

At Garden City United Church, Dr. J. M. Thomas will speak on "Church Life in Early Victoria" at the 10 a.m. service tomorrow.

At Metropolitan United Church, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black will read the Centennial Sunday proclamation at the 11 a.m. service. Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James will preach.

Among morning sermon topics of a centennial nature will be "Our Debt to Our Pioneers" by Rev. Douglas Carr at Centennial United Church; "Ancient Landmarks" by Rev. Alvin C. Hamill at Emmanuel Baptist Church and "The Resources of British Columbia" by Rev. J. L. W. McLean at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Canada's Largest Man-Made Jump

Vancouver's Empire Stadium will, believe it or not, be the site for the B.C. Centennial ski jumping tournament in which outstanding competitors from Canada, the United States and Europe will be on hand for the May 1-2-3 event. Largest man-made jumping hill ever built in Canada, the jump towers 165 feet high and skiers will land on 10,000 tons of crushed ice which will be blown on the turf. Among the competitors will be Finland's Juhani Karkinen and Ensio Hyytia, who finished one-two in the recent world champions.—(Photo by Graphic Industrial Ltd.)

Packers in Lead— Blank Macs Again

KAMLOOPS—Goalie Dave Gatherum, flashing the form that once earned him a trial with the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, turned up the second consecutive shutout last night as the Kelowna Packers whipped the Belleville MacFarlands, 3-0, to take a 2-1 lead in the Allan Cup final.

Fourth game of the best-of-seven series will be played in Kelowna tonight.

Kelowna blanked the eastern champions, 6-0, Wednesday night after the MacFarlands had taken a 4-1 victory in the series opener Monday night.

Gatherum kicked out 43 shots in registering his shutout, the fifth he has recorded in Allan Cup playoffs this season.

The MacFarlands, their line-up sprinkled with ex-pros, had their share of the territorial play but were unable to get the puck past the acrobatic Kelowna netminder.

Belleville goaltender Gordie Bell was also outstanding, turning aside 37 of the 40 shots directed at him. He was well beaten on all three goals that eluded him.

Centre George Agar, playing coach of the Vernon Canadians, who joined the Kelowna club for the playoffs after his club was eliminated, scored twice for the Packers.

Moe Young, a Kelowna veteran who scored twice in Wednesday's win, got the other goal.

Despite the wide-open play, there was no repetition of the rough play that marked Wednesday's game. Referee Charlie Deziel of Montreal, the Quebec Hockey Association's head referee, replaced Bill Roberts, also of Montreal, and kept the game well in hand.

Kelowna drew seven of the 12 minor penalties handed out.

Agar's second goal was scored with the MacFarlands a man short.

Defenceman Harry Smith, who was banished from Wednesday's game with a match misconduct for slashing Barton Bradley, was back in the Packer lineup.

Andy McCallum, who suffered a broken cheek-bone in Wednesday's game, played with a special helmet protecting his face. The rugged Kelowna defenceman took two of his club's seven penalties.

Belleville—Goal, Bell; defence, Bailey, Crawford, Gover, Benoit, Lepine; forwards, Mafurma, Menard, Goldoni, Payette, Brown, Montgomery, D. Jones, Hinse, [illegible] Bradley, Mayeaux.

Kelowna—Goal, Gatherum; defence, Smith, Conarn, McCallum, Lavell; forwards, Young, Roche, Swarbrick, Durban, Middleton, Agar, B. Jones, Jablonski, Moro, [illegible].

Referee: Charlie Deziel; linesmen, John Cams and Bill Nelson.

FIRST PERIOD

1. Kelowna, Young (Jones) 17.47.

Penalties: McCallum 1.45, Durban 15.45.

SECOND PERIOD

2. Kelowna, Agar (Roche, Middleton) 16.14.

Penalties: Gabbard 7.19, Lavell 5.53, Benoit 10.45, Montgomery 13.37, Jones 18.2[illegible], Durban 19.38.

THIRD PERIOD

3. Kelowna, Agar (Roche, Middleton) 7.10.

Penalties: Smith 3.40, Lepine 6.25, Lavell 9.26, McCallum 13.46.

Surprising Giants Take NL Lead; McDougald's Miscue Again Costly

San Francisco Giants pushed past Chicago into first place in the National League last night as Ray Monzant shackled the Cubs on a four-hitter for a 2-0 victory and his first major league shutout.

Monzant also drove in San Francisco's first run with one of the five Giant hits off starter Jim Brosnan and Don Elston.

It was a day for good pitching. Milwaukee Braves climbed into a second-place tie with the Cubs, half a game off the pace, with a 4-0 win over Philadelphia Phillies on Bob Rush's three-hitter, and rookie Fred Kipp gained credit for his first major league win while Los Angeles Dodgers downed St. Louis Cardinals, 5-3, before a record night-game crowd of 60,635 at Los Angeles Coliseum.

In last night's other National League game, Pittsburgh Pirates edged Cincinnati Reds, 4-3.

There was plenty of excitement in the American League, where Chicago White Sox finally snapped out of the doldrums and Gil McDougald's error again proved costly for New York Yankees.

White Sox, riding a five-game losing streak, had to scramble to break into the win column. They scored three times in the ninth to tie Kansas City Athletics, and finally won it, 4-3, on a 12th-inning single by Luis Aparicio.

McDougald, whose ninth-inning error cost the Yankees their first defeat, booted another one in the ninth last night and it led to a 2-1 defeat at the hands of Baltimore Orioles.

FORD LOSES

The error broke up a fine pitching duel between Whitey Ford of the Yanks, going for his second win, and Connie Johnson. The pair matched five-hitters, but Ford gave up a two-run double to Gene Woodling with two out after McDougald's boot.

In other games, Boston Red Sox were blanked, 2-0, by Washington Senators, and Cleveland Indians jumped on Detroit Tigers, 12-2.

Mickey Vernon hit a grand-slam home run off Jim Bunning and wound up with five RBI's to pace Cleveland's 13-hit attack on four Detroit pitchers. Ray Narleski went the route with a six-hitter to post his second win of the season and the third straight victory for the resurgent Indians.

PEE WEE BRADSHAW

Most valuable player in the Inter-City Lacrosse League and runner-up in the scoring department last season, Pee Wee Bradshaw will be on the first line for Victoria Shamrocks tonight in Nanaimo when the Rocks open their season in the first annual Shrine Game against the Timbermen. Shamrocks will begin defence of the Mann Cup Canadian championship at Memorial Arena Wednesday night against Vancouver Pilseners.

Chorley's Goal in Overtime Puts Canucks into 2-0 Lead

VANCOUVER—Elliot Chorley scored on a breakaway with just over a minute remaining in the first overtime period last night to give the Vancouver Canucks a 4-3 victory over the Calgary Stampeders and a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven Western Hockey League final.

The series now shifts to Calgary for the third and fourth games.

Chorley's game-winning effort came after Vancouver netminder Marcel Pelletier had saved the Canucks with several spectacular saves in the overtime session. In all, he kicked out 10 drives in the extra period, most of them ticketed shots.

Canuck captain Phil Maloney, the leading point-getter in the playoffs, scored once to boost his point total to 16.

Flashy Jackie McLeod, scoring his 11th goal of the playoffs, got the tying marker in the third period. The other Canuck goal went to Red Johanson, who set up two goals in the opening game Wednesday.

Defenceman Bill Folk turned in an outstanding two-way performance, collecting three assists.

Calgary goals were scored by Dusty Blair, Murray Wilkie and defenceman Doug Barkley.

Wilkie's goal gave him 12 points in the playoffs and moved him into sole possession of second place in the scoring race.

Barkley, whose goal was unassisted, had previously scored only two goals in 31 games for the Stampeders.

Calgary—Goal, Rollins; defence, S. Hurst, Houghton, Barkley, McNamara; forwards, Ford, C. Blair, Schmautz, F. Hurst, Wilkie, D. Blair, Marcetta, Karyluk, Finney, Hicks.

Vancouver—Goal, Pelletier; defence, MacNab, Dawson, Cossie, Folk; forwards, MacQueen, McLeod, Maloney, Johanson, Kurtenbach, Hutchinson, Powers, Chorley, Robinson.

Referee: Vern Buffey; linesmen, Lloyd Gilmour and Laurie Ludlow.

FIRST PERIOD

Split of $23,000 For 5,000 Entrants In B.C. Playdown

By JIM TAYLOR

More than 5,000 B.C. bowlers, including at least four teams from Victoria, will be rolling for a share of $23,000 starting today in Vancouver in the two-week B.C. Centennial Fivepin Tournament.

Entry list for the tournament is now complete and includes about 2,000 women. Bowlers are entered from Prince George, Quesnel, Kamloops, Vancouver, Kitimat, Victoria and almost every district in the province.

Competition is classed according to handicap in open, "A," "B" and "C" divisions. Prize list runs from a minimum of $150 for open singles winner to $75 for the "C" champion. Top doubles team collects at least $300, while the winning team splits $650. There are also cash prizes for second and third places in each event.

Stan Jones, Don Corbett, Cec McRae, Harry Cool and Bill McKinnon form the team representing Gibson's Bowladrome.

Three teams are entered from the Capital City Bowling Alley leagues. First team is made up of Reg Waggoner, Dave Allan, Bill Atkinson, Neil Craig and Al Nelthorpe. Craig, Allan and Nelthorpe join Marge Berry and Bud Lovegren to form the second team, while Cy Waters, Jack Goldie, Howie Butler, Percy Riddie and Craig will be on the third team.

Stan Bell and Keith Todd, Waggoner and Bill Cool, Lovegren and Atkinson, Craig and Allan, and Nelthorpe and Lovegren have teamed up for doubles entries.

* * *

Bell set a sizzling pace in fivepin action at Capital City this week with a 960 series on games of 345, 338 and 277. Next were Atkinson, 868 and 751; Bell with 836; Sam Smitherman, 827 (308); Bud Brock, 804; Stan Jones, 796; Nelthorpe, 784 (387); Dick Hall, 745 (355) and Harry Smith, 761.

Three tenpin leagues held their roll-offs this week as winter league play came near to conclusion.

At Strathcona Bowling Alley, Six Mile House rolled 2,616 to beat Grand Spot News by 145 pins. Team members are Art Manson, 543; Charlie Marks, 444; George Motion, 538; Harold Paulding, 535, and Roy Begg, 556. Other members of the team who did not bowl in the final are Dave Barr and Cas Sapala.

Bob Bystedt had the high series for Grand Spot, 545.

Totem Grill beat Tillicums for third place as Andy Palmer rolled a fine 580 (238) series.

Other top scorers at Strathcona were Ron Cush, 589 (225); Roy Harris, 558; Wilf Smith, 541; Jack Bacon, 540, and Vince Wheatley, 525 (203).

At Gibson's, Cec Dees took the Friday mixed league title 2,585-2,468, from Suncrests.

Team members are Bonita Eng, Eddie Lou, Rita Leung, Slim Wookey and cleanup man Richard Lou, who rolled 560 (212, 203).

Commercial league title at Gibson's went to H. Bryan, E. Simmons, B. Bryan, W. Hill, Ken Munn and W. Dunaway, of Lucky Lagers, who won from Princess Mary's.

Top scorers at Gibson's were Norm Baker, 577 (237); E. Harbinger, 557, and Norm Gamble, 548 (222).

Play in the annual Vancouver Island Open fivepin championships gets under way today and tomorrow at Esquimalt Bowling Alleys with all defending champions on hand.

The tournament will be rolled over two weekends, and a large entry is on hand from Port Alberni, Nanaimo and Courtenay.

Neil Craig will defend his singles title and the Esqui-mos—Keith Todd, Frank Morgan, Ken Smith and Reg Waggoner—will try to beat the team record of 3,954 scratch they set last year. Dolly Gregory and Audy Baldwin of Nanaimo will be back to try and retain the doubles title.

* * *

10TH FRAME: A team from Victoria High won an inter-school fivepin match at Capital City Bowling Alleys Thursday with a total of 2,902. Mount View High had the top total, 2,947, but under the scoring system in use the team placed second. Esquimalt High was third at 2,831, and Dick Lower of Esquimalt had the high single, 283 . . . Gibson's will hold a tenpin handicap doubles tournament on weekends from May 16-July 6 . . . Strathcona has a singles tenpin tourney set for the weekends of June 14-15 and 21-22, with $200 in prize money.

U.S. Football Great, Hickman, Dies at 46

WASHINGTON (AP)—Herman Hickman, 46, sports commentator and former football coach at Yale, died Friday in hospital.

The rotund, jovial commentator underwent an operation last Monday and had been in satisfactory condition until Thursday.

Then he suffered an acute hemorrhage in the esophagus, the tube leading down into the stomach.

Hickman retired from coaching several years ago and had been commenting since then on the sports scene for radio, television and magazines.

Determined Pats Nip Canadiens in Opener

OTTAWA — Regina Pats, paced by the three-goal performance of scoring ace Billy Hicke, built up a three-goal lead and then held off a determined third-period drive by the Ottawa - Hull Canadiens last night to take a 4-3 victory in the opening game of the Memorial Cup final.

Second game of the best-of-seven series will be played in Hull Sunday with the third game back in Ottawa Tuesday.

After a scoreless first period, Pats fashioned a 2-1 lead in the second period as Hicke, who collected 55 goals in winning the Saskatchewan Junior League scoring championship, beat the Canadien goalie Bruce Gamble twice.

Ralph Backstrom, rated the top pro prospect in junior hockey, replied for the Canadiens.

Goals by Hicke and defenceman Terry Harper boosted the Pats' lead to three goals at the midway mark of the final period.

Then Canadien coach Sammy Pollock sent out five forwards and with less than five minutes remaining Terry Gray cut the Regina lead to two goals.

Regina's Red Berenson took a tripping penalty at 18.07 and Pollock pulled Gamble in favor of a sixth forward. The strategy paid off as Bill Cacter scored from a scramble with 13 seconds remaining.

FIRST PERIOD

No scoring.

Penalties: Gosbardt 1.53, Carter 10.07, Hicke 12.17, Erickson 18.33.

SECOND PERIOD

Rugby Windup Carded Today

James Bay Athletic Association is assured of the Vancouver Island rugby championship. The only question is, which division is going to win it?

JBAA's first and second-division clubs clash at Macdonald Park this afternoon in a sudden-death game for the Island title and the Cowichan Cup. The game will close out the 1957-58 rugby season.

Game time is 2.30 p.m.

TORONTO (CP)—Fred Gaston, a speedy 210-pound fullback from Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, has been signed by Toronto Argonauts, coach Hamp Pool of the Big Four football club announced yesterday.

There's No Limit . . . . . . To Swim Records

Aussie Assault Just Starting

By GERALD LYONS

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Australia's young swimmers have broken five world records since Jan. 1, yet swimming coaches here say "we are only just beginning."

The Australian coaches believe that particularly over the middle and long distance, the times can still be reduced a lot.

Several members of Australia's 18-strong Empire Games team are expected to create more world records at Cardiff, Wales, in July.

One feature of the recent flood of world records set by Australians has been the fact that they have broken metric records although swimming longer distances measured in yards.

The 880-yard swim is nearly six yards farther than 800 metres. Yet the "boy wonder," 15-year-old John Konrads, broke both records in one swim in which he set new world times for 1,500 metres and 1,650 yards.

In an effort to find out how fast a swimmer can go, a team of experts—a doctor, two prominent coaches and a well-known swimming official—were asked:

Are we approaching the limit in swimming times?

Are our young stars in danger of overstraining themselves?

All agreed that much better world record times could be set for distances of from 400 metres to a mile. All declined to name an eventual limit for any event.

Frank Guthrie, a leading Aussie coach, said the two 12-year-old New South Wales swimmers, Peter Phelps and Robert Windle, recently swam remarkable times for their age, yet their performances were almost unnoticed.

They clocked five minutes, 10 seconds and five minutes, 11 seconds respectively in the under-14 440-yard race in the state championships. At this age, even the amazing John Konrads was two to three seconds slower, Guthrie said.

A well-known Australian swimming official, W. Berge Phillips, said that, helped by scientific methods, swimmers will continue to improve world times.

"No one can say just what times they will get down to," he added.

"Swimming is the only sport in the world where children can compete on equal terms with adults. This is shown throughout the world by the fact that boys and girls in their early teens are winning international championships and setting world records."

Baseball-Loving Judge Gives Satchel a Break

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—A senior judge says he will investigate an unusual sentence meted out by another juddge who told veteran pitcher Satchel Paige he wouldn't have to serve out a 20-day jail sentence if he won enough baseball games for the Miami Marlins. Judge Charles Snowden sentenced the aged negro pitcher to 20 days in jail on two traffic violations Wednesday but provided that a day would be lopped off the term for every game Paige wins.

Snowden also provided that a day would be cut off the term for every run Paige scores and every time he strikes out Luke Easter of the Buffalo Bisons of the International League.

Crossan Makes the Grade

Former B.C. Soccer All-Star Rated Top English Prospect

By ROGER STONEBANKS

LONDON (CP)—A summer holiday on the Isle of Man that stretched into five years made a soccer player out of Errol Crossan.

Today the 25-year-old native of Montreal is a regular with Southend United, a Third Division club. His manager confidently expects him to hit the big time.

Crossan was only five years old when his parents took him across the Atlantic in the summer of 1939. The outbreak of the Second World War marooned the Crossans on the Island and Errol learned his soccer at school there.

PLAYED FOR ROYALS

The family moved from Montreal to Vancouver in 1947 and within a few years Errol earned a berth with New Westminster Royals and played for a number of all-star teams in British Columbia, including one that beat a Northern Ireland eleven, 3-2.

A former British sports writer working on a B.C. newspaper spotted the slim, fair-haired youngster and considered him a good prospect. He tipped off Manchester City and the First Division club agreed to pay his fare to England. He was signed by the club shortly after his arrival.

After two years in the city's reserve team he switched to Gillingham because he preferred to play for the first team of a Third Division club rather than the reserves of a First Division side. At the end of last season Southend United paid Gillingham £1,600 for his services.

ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Since joining Southend he has attracted the attention of a number of clubs, including some in the First Division. Southend manager Eddie Perry is proud of his young Canadian outside right.

"He's coming along fine and is a good prospect."

A few weeks ago Crossan was selected for the Third Division, south, team to meet the Third Division, north, in the annual inter-league match.

A fast winger with a hard shot, Crossan is a full-time professional for Southend. He finds he has a fair amount of spare time, after the morning's training session and in the off-season takes a temporary job as taxi-driver, laborer or warehouseman.

Canadian soccer players in England are rare but Crossan remembers Gordon (Gozo) Stewart of Vancouver who played for a time with Everton, when Crossan was at Manchester City.

Canadian soccer, he says, compares roughly with the standard of England's Third Division, though he adds that he hasn't been in Canada for four years and the situation may have changed.

Connie Mack League Registration Sunday

It won't be long before players in the "forgotten age of baseball" will be playing in the new four-team Connie Mack League.

Officials reported yesterday that the final registration session will be held tomorrow at Royal Athletic Park between 10 a.m. and noon. Players in the proper age group, including those who fail to win berths in the Senior Amateur League, will be placed on Connie Mack League teams Wednesday.

The Connie Mack League is for players 16-18, and a boy is eligible only if he will not have become 19 by Sept. 1. This takes in the "forgotten" age group, and serves as a bridge between the minor leagues and the senior amateur loop.

Three teams will operate out of the Greater Victoria area and one from Duncan. All local games will be played at Royal Athletic Park. Tentative opening date has been set for May 14.

League champion, not an all-star club as in the case in most other minor leagues, will advance to the provincial playoff. B.C. winner goes into the regional finals. Connie Mack League teams do not progress past regional playoffs at present, but it is hoped that the organization will have competition on a national scale next season.

Anyone wishing to help out coaching teams in the Connie Mack League is invited to phone Jack Brice, 3-8466; Roger Emery, 7-2640, or Jack Henderson, 3-8824.

Casper Remains Out in Front; Leonard Three Strokes Behind

Billy Casper, playing it close to the vest after his record-equalling effort Thursday, fired a steady two-under-par 70 yesterday to retain his lead at the halfway mark of the $40,000 Tournament of Champions.

Coasting around the long Desert Inn Country Club course at Las Vegas with almost 8,000 spectators trailing him, the 26-year-old Californian held his one-stroke edge as he added a 70 to his opening round score of 65.

That gave him a 36-hole score of 135 and a one-stroke lead over fiery Tommy Bolt, who shot a fine 67 yesterday after an opening round of 69. Frank Stranahan, one stroke behind by several players . . . Don January held a one-stroke lead over Jay Hebert and Gary Player at the halfway point of the $15,000 Lafayette Open golf tournament yesterday, firing a 68 . . . West Germany led Holland, 2-0, Czechoslovakia led Yugoslavia by the same count and Spain took a 2-0 lead over Egypt yesterday in European Davis Cup ties.

MARCOTTE RETURNED: Goalie Jacques Marcotte, who seriously injured his right eye in his first practice session with Toronto Maple Leafs this season and may never play hockey again, has been returned to New York Rangers. Leafs bought Marcotte in exchange for the professional rights to Toronto junior star Billy Kennedy . . . A United States men's basketball team downed Russia, 74-68, at Moscow yesterday, overcoming a 40-31 half-time deficit . . . Ireland's sensational Ron Delany ran a 4.06.5 anchor mile, made up 35 yards in the process and outlasted Whitbread to win the distance medley relay yesterday at the opening of the Penn relays . . . Los Angeles Dodgers, who fined Duke Snider for engaging in a bit of horseplay before Wednesday's game, announced yesterday that they had also slapped fines on Don Zimmer and Ed Roebuck, who also took part in a pre-game throwing contest.

Casper Thursday, slipped to a 71 yesterday and holds third place at 137.

Canada's Stan Leonard fired a sizzling 32 on the front nine but slipped to a 37 coming home for his second straight 69 and a 138 total, three strokes off the pace.

Walt Burkemo, firing a 68, moved into fifth place at 139 and Arnold Palmer, this year's Masters champion and one of the top-rated contenders for the rich Las Vegas event, also had a 68 for a sixth place tie with veteran Dutch Harrison.

Gene Littler, who has won the event three straight years, slipped to a 74 yesterday after a first-round 68 while Bill Johnston dropped from third place to 21st among the select group of 22 golfers with a 78—Friday's highest score.

Best round of the day was recorded by George Bayer, regarded as golf's longest hitter. Bayer, who needed 76 strokes Thursday, had a 66 and set a course record with a 30 on the front nine. He had seven birdies, an eagle on the 520-yard first hole and two bogies on the outgoing nine but ruined his chances for a record 18-hole score with bogies on the last two holes.

RUGBY IMPORTS: Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats made plans yesterday to bring English rugby players to the training camps of the two Big Four football clubs this summer. Presidents Ted Workman of the Als and Jake Gaudaur of the Tiger-Cats agreed that the time has come to make the experiment of converting rugby pros into Canadian football material. Gaudaur recently returned from a trip to England, where he saw several games in the professional rugby league and was impressed

Teen-Age Curling Ban For Manitoba Playoff

WINNIPEG (CP) — A new system of determining a provincial curling champion and a rule that would restrict entry of teen-agers such as the Terry Braunstein rink which won the title this year were approved Thursday night at the annual meeting of the Manitoba Curling Association.

The MCA also decided that rinks from Northwestern Ontario affiliated with the organization will be welcomed to the Manitoba bonspiel as affiliates but will be ineligible for championship competition.

All four members on a rink in the provincial playoffs must belong to the same club and the rink must have four men under the new rules.

Sixteen rinks will go into two sections of double knockout competition in the new system. Twelve will represent districts—eight country and four city—and four will make the grade through the bonspiel.

Formerly, all rinks reaching the 16s of the two major bonspiel events gained entry into the playoffs along with 32 district rinks. Under the new system, each rink will be guaranteed at least two games. There were complaints about the sudden-death nature of the old system.

The Manitoba Association went halfway with the Dominion Curling Association in restricting high school curlers such as the teen-aged Terry Braunstein rink, which lost out to Matt Baldwin in a playoff for the Brier Tankard at Victoria this year.

Lawn Bowling Clubs Set Openings Today

Two of Greater Victoria's six lawn bowling clubs will hold opening ceremonies today as bowlers in the area prepare for what will be their biggest season in history.

Victoria Lawn Bowling Club will open at Beacon Hill Park starting at 1.30. Burnside Lawn Bowling Club gets its season under way at 2 p.m.

The other four clubs in the area — Canadian Pacific, Victoria West, Lake Hill and Oak Bay, expect to have their greens ready at an early date, with special celebrations planned at the opeing of the new Oak Bay club.

City bowlers will host two major tournaments in August. The Victoria Lawn Bowling Club will be the scene of the B.C. championships, followed by the Canadian Championship tournament.

Visitors and prospective members will be welcome at today's opening sessions.

Silky in Turf Debut At Louisville Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Silky Sullivan, the come-from-behind darling of the Pacific coast, makes his Churchill Downs' debut today in a seven-furlong prep for the Kentucky Derby May 3.

Seven other Derby nominees in the $4,000 Stepping Stone Purse will test the California three-year-old.

Missing from the field will be pre-derby favorites Tim Tam, Nadir and Jewel's Reward.

Silky is expected to get toughest competition from Gone Fishin', winner over the big colt at Golden Gate Fields in California, and Lincoln Road, second to Tim Tam in the Florida Derby.

Foxx Happy Again As Baseball Coach

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — All's right with the world for Jimmy Foxx.

Foxx, the Hall of Fame slugger whose luck ran out and left him almost penniless this winter, is back on his feet as a baseball coach with Boston Red Sox' Minneapolis farm club.

"I just wanted to get working again and the Red Sox were wonderful to give me the chance" Foxx said Thursday.

At 50, Foxx still gives an impression of tremendous physical strength. His hair is streaked with silver and he's wary about throwing in batting practice "cause I might not see that ball come back," but he can still do things with a bat.

Boston's rehiring of their favorite muscleman of the '30s brings Foxx back to the instructor's role he has held off and on since retiring.

Gunman's Blunder Puts Him in Jail

CHICAGO (UP)—A holdup man will serve one to three years in prison because he listened to his victim's plea. Ronald E. Whitaker, 19, drew the sentence after he took a billfold containing $5 from an elderly man and then granted the man's request for the return of the wallet.

He was identified later because he had given his own billfold to the man by mistake.

No Secrecy Now

Tired But Gay Heikkila Home

SAN FRANCISCO [illegible] Ex-deportee William Heikkila, disheveled but happy, arrived back home yesterday a week after he was snatched from a San Francisco street to start a round-trip deportation that caused world-wide controversy.

His arrival was in direct contrast to the secrecy of his departure last Friday when five immigration agents grabbed him as he left work and whisked him off to Vancouver, giving him only time to shout to a fellow worker to "notify Phyllis (his wife)."

HORDES GREET HIM

Yesterday [illegible] he came down the ramp [illegible] American plane [illegible] greeted by hordes of newsmen [illegible] men, radiomen [illegible] personnel [illegible] news friends [illegible] relatives. Officials [illegible] gration, customs and [illegible] partments were also [illegible] but they cleared him quickly [illegible] and turned him over to the [illegible].

"I am proud of what I have done in the past," said the one-armed, 52-year-old draftsman who has been fighting deportation for 11 years. "I am neither pro-Communist nor anti-Communist. My ideas are my own. If people don't like what I have done, I can't help it."

WANTS CITIZENSHIP

Heikkila was born in Finland but came to America at the age of two months. He has never become a American citizen. [illegible] he said he wanted [illegible] and had applied [illegible]

[illegible] process your [illegible] under in [illegible]

Asked [illegible] after 12 years in [illegible] the United [illegible] Heikkila [illegible]

I certainly.

The scout [illegible] Heikkila [illegible] package of books he said were given him by newsmen in Helsinki.

I TOLD THEM

"They asked me what I wanted and I told them," he said. "The newsmen in Helsinki were magnificent. Everyone there was wonderful. People stopped me on the street to shake my hand. The only trouble was that I didn't get [illegible] sleep."

Meanwhile Bruce Barber, immigration service director here, and an assistant, Stanley Olson, were ordered to show cause why they should not be held guilty of civil contempt in the deportation a week ago of William Heikkila.

Bonner Says:

Jailing Not Justified

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday that the fact a man is passing through Canada in the custody of foreign officers doesn't justify his jailing here.

He was commenting on the detention of William Heikkila, San Francisco, who was held in Vancouver city jail last week end under a false name during deportation to Finland by U.S. immigration officers.

"The fact someone moves through this country in the custody of foreign officers doesn't justify his incarceration by our police," Mr. Bonner stated. "It sounds most unusual. It doesn't sound like the sort of thing that should have happened. It raises a question of practice that we will have to be satisfied on."

The attorney-general stated that he had asked for a full report on the question but as yet had not received it.

B.C. Seeks Tariff Protest

The federal government will be asked to launch a strong protest against increased import tariffs on lead and zinc recommended by the U.S. government.

Provincial Mines Minister [illegible] the government was not happy with the situation yesterday.

Recommendation for the increase was made by a U.S. tariff commission on the grounds that incoming shipments are causing serious injury to the U.S. lead and zinc industry.

Scouts Fashion Centennial Beacon

Heaping on all the scraps they can find, Fairfield Rover Scouts—from left, Robert Hamilton, Jim Whiteaker, Dave Carl and Mickey Whiteaker—begin building up the big pyramid of wood at Clover Point which will be lit as a beacon fire at 9.30 p.m. Sunday, the main one of several hundred beacon fires across B.C. signalling the start of centennial celebrations.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Flood Area Combed

EDMONTON (CP) [illegible] evacuation work completed yesterday continued to comb the flood-stricken delta area of northwest Alberta.

Sketchy reports reaching here Friday from the Lake Athabasca district 375 miles north [illegible] had [illegible] flooded to a depth of [illegible] feet by the ice-clogged Peace River.

During that helicopter evacuation Thursday [illegible] RCMP reconnaissance [illegible] the safety of 26 families [illegible] upstream on the Peace. Flooding had forced them to higher ground on their small river island but police said they were [illegible]

Some of the collective farms in Russia, stressing large-scale machine farming, cover 45,000 acres.

Cancer research is being carried [illegible] of the 10 Canadian provinces. Most of the money for its support is provided by the Canadian Cancer Society.

CLC Picks Slate Then Closes Shop

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Labor Congress' second biennial convention concluded suddenly late Friday after electing a slate of officers.

Claude A. Jodoin, 44, president of the CLC since its foundation in 1956, was returned to his $13,000-a-year job by acclamation.

Secretary-treasurer Donald MacDonald also was re-elected without opposition. His salary is $12,000.

An innovation was the election of two $12,000-a-year executive vice-presidents following the resignation of Gordon Cushing, who is to become assistant deputy minister of labor at Ottawa.

The vice-presidencies went to Stanley Knowles, defeated CCF national deputy leader and a member of the printers' union, and William Dodge, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees.

Four newly-created vice-presidencies were filled by George Burt of Toronto, Canadian chief of the auto workers; Frank H. Hall of Montreal, Canadian head of the railway clerks; Bill Mahoney of Toronto, head of the steel workers, and Bill Jenoves, president of the Toronto District Labor Council.

A resolution to have the CLC executive meet with the executive of the AFL-CIO with an aim to transfer to congress control all building trades councils in Canada was referred to the incoming executive.

Park Gets New Flagpole

Up and up goes the new 121-foot flagpole which was erected at the lookout at Beacon Hill Park yesterday by steeplejack A. E. Moseley. New pole, part of centennial year spruce-up, was donated to park by Mayo Lumber Co. of Paldi. It is 35 feet shorter than old pole which was becoming unsafe.—(Photo by William Boucher.)

Margaret Protected

Plans have been made for a security guard of Princess Margaret during her visit for B.C.'s centennial celebrations in July, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday.

Mr. Bonner gave no details other than to say that the matter will be handled by the RCMP and Scotland Yard.

Elworthy Resigns One Job

Gordon Elworthy, president of the Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Constituency Association last night announced his resignation from that position.

He said he had to make a choice between that job and his other political position secretary-treasurer of the Victoria federal Conservative riding.

FIRST ALLEGIANCE

"The responsibility is too much to maintain the two jobs," he said. "I was secretary-treasurer of the federal riding before I was president in Oak Bay and my first allegiance must be to Mr. (A. deB.) McPhillips (Victoria MP) for whom Mr. Elworthy was campaign manager in the last election)."

Mr. Elworthy, who came in as president last November, said he would continue to be a member of, and work for the Oak Bay association. He said there were 12 paid-up members when he became president and that there now are 250.

NO CONNECTION

He said his resignation has no bearing at all on a resolution passed at a meeting of the association in February calling for immediate resignation of the officers and entire executive.

It was presented by Justin Harbord, defeated candidate in the last provincial election.

CONFIDENCE VOTED

Mr. Elworthy at the time refused to take any action until the federal election campaign was over. He said last night that the executive had then given him a vote of confidence, however.

He added that he now was the only one of the executive that was resigning as far as he knew, stressing it was pressure of two jobs only.

Children Give to Help Children

Contributing to welfare and happiness of children less fortunate than themselves is B.C. school children's centennial project, for which first 10-cent donations were received yesterday. Funds will be used to provide recreational facilities for ailing children in the Preventorium in Vancouver and Queen Alexandra Solarium in Victoria. Among first contributors are Brenda Carrie and Dougeas Martin in Grade 2 at North Ward School, dropping their dimes into tin held by teacher Miss J. R. Wainwright.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

'Gold' Ship To Launch High-Jinks

Ss. Commodore arrives here today and the welcoming din will be tremendous.

A band concert, punctuated by a three-aircraft fly-past over a flotilla of dugouts and speedboats circling the Inner Harbor, will precede the arrival of the replica of the ship that brought the first gold seekers to Victoria from San Francisco Sunday, April 25, 1858.

CURTAIN RAISER

The whole event, one of the top centennial attractions for the year in B.C., will be a colorful curtain-raiser to Sunday's Day of Thanksgiving ceremonies that officially open the centennial year.

Three important Sunday events are a thanksgiving service and flag-raising ceremony on the legislative buildings lawn, a giant inter-denominational church service at Memorial Arena, the beacon fire lighting at Clover Point.

LENGTHY PERFORMANCE

Today's whoopdedo in contrast to Sunday's sober reflection, will last a long time and only break for supper.

The HMCS Naden band will swing into musical action at 2 p.m. on a float in the Inner Harbor. Three Navy Avenger aircraft will fly past at 2.45 p.m. At the same time, at least six dugout canoes with traditionally garbed Indians from local reserves, and pennant-draped speedboats will be circling the Inner Harbor.

TO FIRE CANNON

Then the Commodore will round the point at the mouth of the harbor, at 2.30 p.m. firing a cannon.

Church bells immediately will ring throughout the city and whistles will be blown. Island Tug and Barge Co. fireboats will shoot streams of water in the air in salute.

"Stowaways" will plunge from the Commodore — a naval vessel converted into a replica of the famous old sidewheeler — as it is escorted by the dugouts and speedboats to giant floats in front of the Empress Hotel.

Fifty bearded sailors will represent the 150 miners who descended on Victoria 100 years ago while the good citizens were at church. The miners were the vanguard of a rush of gold seekers who provided a strong one for some time between Victoria and San Francisco.

The miners will dance a hornpipe on the float. Three coaches and two carriages headed by a regal lavalan bound in a dusty civic vehicle will bring dignitaries and some 20 local belles to greet the miners. A square dance on the float will follow.

'SIR JAMES DOUGLAS'

The vice-president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, O. Rodney Doell, will step off the Commodore. He will be greeted by Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Mayor Percy Scurrah and Victoria baritone John Dunbar portraying Sir James Douglas. A pageant will be followed by street dancing.

Chief Percy Ross will lead a ceremonial dance by Indians. The Hometowners orchestra will perform on a stage in front of the hotel for the dancing on Government and Belleville.

STREETS CLOSED

Police Chief John Blackstock has ordered the streets blocked off.

A supper break comes at 5 p.m. Folk dancing by several ethnic groups begins at 8 and at 9 street dancing resumes until a late hour.

All churches will have centennial services Sunday morning. At 2.30 p.m. the Naden band will launch the program at the legislative buildings. Deputy Premier Eric Martin will proclaim the centennial day of prayer. Religious, army, civic and centennial committee officials will participate.

WILLISTON TO SPEAK

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston will speak.

Rev. Dr. James S. Thomson, moderator of the United Church of Canada, will head a big inter-denominational church service at Memorial Arena at 7.30 p.m. A band concert at Clover Point at 9 p.m. will launch the beacon fire ceremonies.

At 9.30 p.m. a 1,000,000-candle power flare dropped from a navy plane will brilliantly light the area and the Fairfield Rover Scouts will then light the fire.

It will be the main fire of several hundred across B.C. signalling the start of the centennial celebrations.

Welcome Totem

Despite the forbidding aspect of the figures paraded on this 40-foot totem pole, it is expected to be one of the most popular centennial decorations in Victoria. Erected yesterday near the Fountain Circle, one side of the pole welcomes visitors and the other invites them to return. Costing some $4,000, the totem will be given to Victoria after centennial year.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Everyone Happy But Shop Clerks

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Shoppers are happy, store executives are happy, and police are happy, but some shop assistants are not so happy with Friday night shopping.

Started in July, Friday night has become a "family" shopping night with parents and their children able to get downtown together.

Big advantage for parents comes when they buy major furnishing items and appliances. It gives a couple the chance to talk over the merchandise together.

THREE EXTRA HOURS

And for many, three extra hours allows them to buy the things they need without cutting into their weekend.

City traffic has jumped by a good 40 per cent since the introduction of the Friday night shopping, a police officer said last night.

Friday night and Saturday morning are normally busy periods, he said, but the extended hours have put parking space at a premium. Despite the crush few accidents happen.

NOTICEABLE INCREASE

A spokesman for the B.C. Electric said last night there was "a noticeable increase" in passenger traffic on Friday nights since the extra shopping.

A sales person in a city department store however was not so pleased with the extra shopping. About 50 per cent of us are against it but there isn't much we can do about it," he said. "It doesn't give us any time to go shopping for ourselves."

J. H. McKay, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company said the three extra hours on Friday nights were more intensive than any during daytime shopping.

PUBLIC LIKES IT

"It is very successful and the public like it," he said. "I would like to see six-day shopping introduced on a full-time basis. This is primarily a tourist centre and could attract tourists all year round."

Vancouver stores are open six days a week, he said, and no doubt some "Wednesday" tourists from the United States go to Vancouver because they know the stores will be open.

"Short six-day shopping periods such as we had last summer are confusing to people, too," Mr. McKay added. "Last summer it took three of the eight weeks to educate people that we were open."

COME TO BUY

Don Sanderson, 2310 Belmont, assistant manager of Woolworths, pointed out that while not so many people are about as Wednesday mornings, the ones who did come downtown came to buy.

"I thought Wednesday mornings were busiest until I checked into sales figures," he said. "A lot of people work around stores during the day, but at night they come down knowing what they want to buy."

Spokesman for a large down-Town store stressed that the shoppers liked the night shopping and they were the persons to be considered.

"We, and our staffers would prefer to be open six days a week," he said. "Last year we had the staff on rotation during the six-day shopping period and they much preferred it."

Jack Dixon, owner of the Horseshoe Bay Store said business had doubled on Friday nights up to about 9.30 p.m. over what it was before the late shopping hours came in.

Comments from the shoppers themselves were all in favor of the night store opening.

GOOD IDEA

Mr. and Mrs. K. Poulson 313 Vancouver Street: "It is a very good idea. We are able to get out together and leave the baby with a sitter. We are usually busy on Saturdays and can't get downtown."

D. Shaw, 1314 Astle Street: "It is a good idea as most people get paid Fridays and have time to come downtown and do their shopping. If everyone came down Saturdays we would have a heck of a mess."

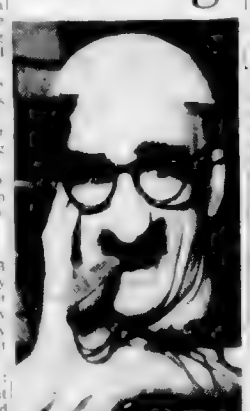

Mrs. M. Haw, 1344 Amphion Street, with son, Robert: "This is only the second time I have been downtown on a Friday night since it started. I guess the store clerks don't like it but I do. Robert likes it too — he gets a present."

College Gets Use of Land

Victoria College council has been given permission by the defence department to use about 35 acres of land on a temporary basis in the Gordon Head camp, Capt. G. R. Newell, chairman of the university subcommittee, told Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday.

He said the college council was now proposing to institute a four-year university course in certain subjects, probably by 1960.

Looking like Groucho Marx and "horrified" at a rubber spider, is trick and joke shop proprietor Kenneth Preston, demonstrating some of the gadgets in his shop. Married, with a daughter Ann, 12, he came to Victoria and got into the laugh business about a year ago. He is originally from Brighton, England, and lived in Edmonton for some years after coming to Canada in 1947. He says his hobby is golf—not practical jokes . . . Ted Calder deep in discussion of the merits of do-it-yourself . . . Norma Barton doing the weekend shopping . . . Pat Graydon offering to make a couple of dart board cabinets for two of his friends . . . George Dawson liking the story of a woman flower addict . . . Jim Carney on the trail of some centennial news . . . Dave Rideout dusting tartan caps and crossed eyes.

Jet Flight Protest Grounded

Mayor Percy Scurrah won't protest against a jet trainer's low flights across the city Thursday, he said yesterday.

He can't, very well, he said, because he has given permission for planes to fly low over the city today in connection with the centennial celebrations.

But a stipulation today is that the jet planes must not fly lower than 500 feet, he added.

COMPLAINT LODGED

One protest over the roaring, low-level flight has been filed.

At 2.15 p.m. Thursday—within minutes of the two runs over the city by a T33 "Shooting Star" jet fighter engaged in exercises with RCN ships—Hugh Sherlit, 150 Douglas, telephoned police headquarters to complain of the flights.

His protest was passed on to the Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, Yates Street, to be forwarded to RCAF at Sea Island.

Red Women Toil In Logging Camps

PARKSVILLE — Women in Russia do a lot of the laborious tasks in the logging industry while the men operate the machinery, Angus McBean, chief forester for MacMillan and Bloedel Limited, said here.

Pictures he showed to a Fathers' Night meeting at Parksville showed women working on the log booms as well as in other phases of the logging industry.

Mr. McBean made a special tour of Russia as a guest of the Russian government and brought back an excellent series of colored slides.

The tour covered some 8,000 miles in six weeks and gave quite a contrast in logging methods in different areas and varied types of timber. There are 1,500,000,000 acres of forest in Russia, Mr. McBean said, and the annual capacity is 130,000,000,000 board feet compared to 6,000,000,000 in B.C.

Three times as much lumber is produced as in all of Canada but not as much pulp is processed. Timber is mostly larch, spruce, Siberian pine, birch and poplar.

Logging operations are approximately 85 per cent mechanized and a lot of electrical equipment is used. The electricity is generated right at the scene of operations.

TOFINO — Mrs. Robert Douglass has been appointed secretary of Tofino Library Board to replace Mrs. Ian MacLeod who has resigned. A. F. Wallace has been named a board member.

* * *

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held today for Arthur James Bessons, 79, a well-known resident of this district for the last 27 years.

Born in Alsager, England, he first lived in Winnipeg before moving to Duncan where for some time he was steward for the Old Country Cowichan Club until his retirement in 1941.

NANAIMO — A youth who wanted his case dealt with before his impending wedding got his wish yesterday when Magistrate Harold Hine refused to "impede the course of matrimony."

The youth pleaded not guilty to consuming beer in a public place. He was originally remanded for trial until May 4, but the court put the date forward to April 30 despite a crowded calendar when the accused said he was to be married shortly.

* * *

NANAIMO — Statistics issued by Unemployment Insurance Commission local manager Jack Clark show a slight decrease in unemployment in the Nanaimo area this month. He noted 1,832 men and 343 women still collecting unemployment insurance benefits.

* * *

NANAIMO — Upper Vancouver Island Music Festival begins Tuesday. Joe Bertram reports his committee has received a record 500 entries. Festival will continue through to Saturday at Nanaimo Senior High School, St. Paul's Anglican Church Hall and Quesnel school auditorium. Mr. Bertram said the Victoria entry in dancing classes was particularly pleasing.

* * *

NANAIMO — It took Magistrate Harold Hine just 20 minutes to process 12 cases in which fines totalled $220 yesterday. One by one the dozen accused pleaded guilty to speeding through school zones in the city. All had been checked by radar. Cash spilled into the "fine box" at the rate of $11 a minute.

* * *

UCLUELET — The Ucluelet municipal council has passed grants of $250 each to the Tofino General Hospital and Ucluelet Public Library.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Centennial flag-raising ceremony will take place at Village Hall at 2.30 p.m. tomorrow. William Reid, district school superintendent, will read the centennial proclamation and village commissioner Joseph Bundy will speak. Rev. E. S. Fleming and Pastor Lloyd Gregory will take part in the ceremony.

At 9 p.m. Sunday a bonfire will be lit on the Campbell River beach.

World 'Listening' To Clergymen

VANCOUVER — The world has stopped laughing at clergymen, says Bishop Raymond Grant of Portland. "The world is more willing to listen to what we have to say now."

Tories Meet Today

Discussion of a resolution calling for a leadership convention of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association is expected to be one of the high lights of the quarterly meeting of the executive in the Empress Hotel today.

More than 150 party officers from all parts of the province will gather here for the meeting.

Spokesmen said yesterday that only delegates from the various constituency associations will be allowed to vote but that all "friends" paid-up party members will be allowed to speak.

FALL MEET ASKED

Hottest fight is expected over a proposal from Delta constituency that a nominating convention of the party be held in the fall, possibly October.

Present leader Deane Finlayson, who has already signified that he will fight to keep the job he won in 1952, has been roundly criticized in recent months.

OUSTING MOVE

There is a strong move afoot, sources say, to have him replaced by an older, more experienced leader. Other names mentioned have been former B.C. finance minister Herbert Anscomb and present federal Justice Minister Davie Fulton of Kamloops.

The meeting is scheduled to discuss policy matters here in the light of the sweeping Tory victory at the polls during the last federal election.

Tax-Evading Cities Won't Escape

Municipalities which don't pay their bills will be in the same position as private citizens who do likewise, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday.

He was commenting on a proposal by Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash that all municipalities should refuse to levy school taxes in protest against the government's formula for increasing education costs.

"Presumably municipalities can choose not to pay their bills," Mr. Bonner stated, "but they would be in no different position than anyone who does this."

'Girl Fridays' Strike It Rich

Mink, Gaiety—Jail!

COBLENZ, Germany (WNS) — Being a secretary can get to be too good a job especially if it leads to mink coats, expensive apartments and a jail sentence.

That's what two young women here found out recently when the police learned about the key part they played in a $25,000,000 government contract scandal.

The secretaries, Ilse Frey and Erika Weber, were employed by the Bundeswehr (federal ministry of defence) and as such were in a position to feed confidential procurement information to a furniture manufacturer.

As a result of the girls' "co-operation," the businessman netted $1,000,000 worth of Bundeswehr contracts, the secretaries netted beautiful apartments, a fortune in clothes, "trinkets" and holiday trips and the cops netted them all for bribery.

The judge who heard the case against Frauleins Frey and Weber said he was astonished at the power apparently wielded by Bundeswehr "girl Fridays." He gave the girls six-month jail terms.

Their case was only one of a series being conducted in connection with the huge procurement scandal, involving $25,000,000 worth of quartermaster contracts.

Frauleins Frey and Weber handled competitive bids for Bundeswehr furniture contracts.

Muggenthaler would enter a steep initial bid and then progressively scale it down in line with the tips Ilse and Erika gave him on what the opposition was up to.

Ex-Telephone Operators Hold Reunion

Sixty ex-telephone operators held their reunion dinner recently at Lougheed's Banquet Hall. Eleven of the guests came from Vancouver.

Place cards with centennial colors and gold nuggets attached were made by Mrs. N. Sunderland, Mrs. L. Arnold and Mrs. C. Freeman. Mrs. E. Reston welcomed the guests.

Mrs. Ed Ord wrote and arranged a sketch of early days in Victoria and in London.

Those taking part were Mrs. William Lenfesty, Mrs. I. McIndoe, Mrs. N. Sunderland, Mrs. L. Arnold, Mrs. A. Lettingham, Mrs. L. Fields, Mrs. B. Danes, Mrs. H. Johnstone, Mrs. I. Bains, Mrs. C. Teamars, Mrs. J. Corry, Mrs. E. Reston, Mrs. A. Kerr and Mrs. D. Bird.

Signing Her New Name

Signing register following their marriage in First United Church are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Serimbit. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hussey, Rivercomb Place, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Serimbit, Cloverflower Road. Following a honeymoon in Portland the couple will live at 1551 Pearl Place.—(Photo by Paul Joncas.)

City Man Weds Vernon Bride

St. James Catholic Church at Vernon, B.C., was setting for a marriage recently uniting Theresa Teresa Gabriel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gabriel of Vernon and William Peter Hurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hurst of Victoria.

Father S. R. Miles conducted the ceremony.

Members of the choir of which Miss Gabriel is a member sang traditional wedding hymns for the service.

A floor-length gown of white nylon lace and tulle was worn by the bride. The lace bodice had a scalloped neckline and the skirt was posed over a hoop. Sides were panelled with lace extending to lace tiers at the back. She carried a crescent bouquet of cymbidium orchids and hyacinths. Her only jewelry was a gold cross set with small diamonds. She was given in marriage by her father.

Pale copper toned brocade sheath style dresses were worn by attendants Miss Evelyn Gail, maid of honor, Mrs. Ray Wormald, bridesmaid, and Miss Rose Pelletier, bridesmaid. Matching [illegible] of organza topped the gowns. They had white floral headdresses and carried crescent shaped bouquets of white iris and hyacinths.

Lieut. Ray Wormald was best man and ushers were Des Gavin and Richard Andrews.

The Allison Hotel ballroom was scene of a reception. Tables were arranged with daffodils and copper-colored tulips.

J. [illegible] of Kelowna, godfather of the bride, proposed the toast.

A navy tweed ensemble was worn by the bride for her wedding trip.

The couple will live in Vernon until May when the groom will resume duties as federal biology ranger at Prince George, B.C.

'No Sex In Brains'

NANAIMO — Through making outstanding contributions to the professional fields, women have broken down prejudices and made men discover by their achievements that there is no sex in brains, said Miss Eleanor Morley, Unemployment Insurance Commission co-ordinator for women's employment.

Miss Morley said that today women make up 25 per cent of the total labor force in Canada. She said Great contributions have been made in the fields of law, medicine, nursing and libraries.

Her address on Women's Advancement over the Century went out to members of three women's organizations in Nanaimo when she was guest speaker at a supper meeting sponsored by the Altrusa Club.

For Home Facials

Europe Beauties Swear by Eggs

VIENNA (WNS) — Europe's loveliest women have egg on their faces these days.

But it's no cause for embarrassment. It's all part of the new trend in beauty treatment.

* * *

By deftly combining the homely egg with a few other equally simple ingredients European women are creating effective facial and hair treatments that can be quickly mixed up and applied without so much as leaving the house.

In Australia, France, Italy, Germany and England more and more women are joining the [illegible] beauty cult. And in all these countries the principle ingredient is the humble egg.

* * *

Dora Kaiser, former premier danseuse at the Vienna Opera and now a successful [illegible], suggests this treatment for dry skin:

Mix one egg-yolk with one teaspoon of castor oil. Spread it [illegible] over your face and neck. After 15 to 20 minutes, depending on the dryness of the skin, rinse with warm water. [illegible]

* * *

Marion [illegible], sister of [illegible], a rising French film star herself, [illegible] the following treatment for several days in a row when her skin looks tired and dull:

To two egg-yolks add one tablespoon of honey and mix until smooth. Apply the paste to the skin. After a half hour, rinse well and close the pores with ice water.

* * *

Italian model Rosanna Bellini recommended the following recipe for removing the puffs and tightening the skin:

Separate the yolks and whites of two eggs. Mix into the yolks one teaspoon of olive oil and spread evenly over face and neck.

While it is drying (three to four minutes) beat the egg whites stiff adding 10 drops of peroxide of 20 to 30 volume. Apply the second mixture over the first. Allow it to dry for 25 minutes, then wash it off with warm water.

* * *

German film star Romy Schneider learned this method for deep-cleaning the skin from her famous actress mother:

Mix two egg-yolks with one tablespoon of lemon juice using (if possible) a wooden stick for mixing. Add a few gratings of lemon rind and let stand for at least one hour.

Remove the rind and spread on your face and neck. After 15 to 20 minutes, remove with tepid water.

"This treatment should be repeated twice a week," advised Fraulein Schneider.

* * *

Francoise [illegible], the popular Belgian actress, relies on this nourishing treatment for her hair:

To two egg-yolks add one tablespoon of olive oil or peanut oil. Massage this mixture into the hair for at least 10 minutes. Rinse the hair in warm water, [illegible] for five or ten minutes. Do not use hot water because it [illegible] the egg. Then shampoo with soap and [illegible].

The French have a more sophisticated nourishing treatment for the hair: a shot of brandy goes into their egg and [illegible].

Wigs Work Wonders

By FLORENCE DE SANTIS

NEW YORK (WNS)—If the sudden new fashion for women's wigs continues at its currently mad, bubble-shaped, varicolored pace, even men may join the fun, wigmakers here predict.

For despite the fact that [illegible] of men need wigs more than their fashion-[illegible] wives, only a few thousand now wear them.

[illegible] hairpieces are a lure, says Ben Z. Kaplan, vice-president of the House of Louis Feder in New York.

LAUGH GETTER

[illegible] has long been a standard laugh-getter, Mr. Kaplan [illegible]. Even in show business, where practically every male performer wears hair not his own, few stars will wear their hairpieces in private life.

Yet two centuries ago these same men would not have ventured outside their bedrooms without fat, elaborate wigs. In those days the jokes were on men who wore their own hair. And so firmly was the fashionable wig rooted it took the French Revolution to pull it off and send it into the discard pile.

HUSH-HUSH TOPIC

Wearing a hairpiece has since been as hush-hush a matter for [illegible] men as it is for [illegible] women. [illegible] fel so low [illegible] dared use it. For the last 50 years the terms transformation and toupee were about all the public would know.

The problem for men is a ticklish one, because modern hair styles for the masculine population make the hairpiece secret almost impossible to keep.

LIFETIME SEARCH

Today's stylish gent wears his hair very short and brushed back smoothly from the hairline. Louis Feder has spent his life trying to invent an undetectable transformation for today's fashionable male.

Recently Mr. Feder succeeded in creating a small revolution in the male hairpiece. His product is so different it is not even called a hairpiece. Instead it has been dubbed a "tashay," derived from the French word for "cover."

Feder's "tashay" is [illegible] a part [illegible] eliminating one of the difficult [illegible] giveaways [illegible] irregularly cut in front, the "tashay" hair stands up instead of being brushed back. Thus the construction of a natural hairline is easier. And it can be varied in length and styling to suit the taste of any man, young or old.

Aside from the style, the "tashay" has another revolutionary feature. It eliminates the pins which used to extend slightly over the forehead, and which had to be concealed with makeup and careful fitting every time it was worn. The "tashay" has netting extending beyond the hairline and the hairpiece adheres firmly to the head through swimming, a [illegible] night's sleep, or a sudden [illegible]. Even a good [illegible] can't part it from its wearer.

It's the principle of the suction cup, Messrs. Feder [illegible] explained. You can't pull it off, but the wearer can slip it off in seconds.

Mr. Feder feels that today's new fad for wigs will benefit her husband, because even now it's women who more often than not urge men to get a hairpiece. Used to the whims of fashion, the little woman will undoubtedly urge hubby to come along on her wig-buying spree and stop in for a crowned hairpiece of his own.

Frees Adolescent Tension

Let Them Rock!

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Benny Goodman considers rock 'n' roll a release from adolescent tension.

"I think rock 'n' roll is boring, but I don't think it's destructive. It's not so different from swing," said the wife of the man who skyrocketed to fame as the "King of Swing" in the 1930's.

"I can't see how rock 'n' roll can be held responsible for juvenile delinquency. It's a release from tension and adolescent pressures. I wonder if parents who object to their children's listening to rock 'n' roll provide enough attractive things for the youngsters to do.

"Personally I don't find the music satisfying and neither does Benny, but we don't feel we have the right to tell our children they shouldn't listen. Children should be exposed to all types of music. Let them broaden their horizons and form their own tastes."

One of the daughters the Goodmans have two, Rachel, 15, and Benjie, 12—had listened to nothing but classical music for years, then one day heard her father's recording of Sing Sing Sing. She played it 30 times or so in the next few days, then said: "now I see why people say Daddy is such a great clarinetist."

"But Benny was succeeded by [illegible] the rock 'n' roll phase and passed out the other side safely," said Mrs. Goodman.

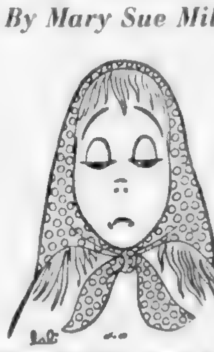

"A lot of silly kids used to stand in line to hear Benny and got hysterical. But they grew up to be nice people. I don't see why youngsters who like rock 'n' roll should turn out differently.

[illegible] with the style, but not unless they've listened to it," she added.

THE WOEBEGONE LOOK. When will girls and women learn that they appear at their woebegone worst with head tied up in scarves, peasant fashion. There is much longing [illegible] pictures of Russian women with heads so tied. The look rural and ill-clad, we say. Well, those gals literally haven't anything else to wear. But we do and plenty.

We've got rain hats and turbans for protection against wet and wind. We've got fair-weather hats to become every type of face and to point up every costume. What folly not to make use of our bounty when it offers so much flattery, individuality and polish.

This is not to say that scarves are taboo on the head. For outdoor work and casual wear, they are most practical. And they can be charming as well, if draped to grace the face like a turban or hood.

Let's get with it, girls. let's not look Pitiful Pearls!

Garden Notes

Fingertip Seed Dope

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

As I think I pointed out once before the questions and doubts and difficulties which come to my desk from gardening readers are most valuable to me for they keep me ... serious infestation of any certain pest or an epidemic of plant diseases gets going, I know about it almost immediately from the sudden influx of letters describing the symptoms.

Not only this but some letters bring up problems for which I don't have any ready answer and I have to start digging through my garden library for the whys and wherefores to satisfy my own curiosity as much as to answer my readers.

Last week for instance a reader brought up a point which had never occurred to me before. He was trying to grow some Coral Bells from seed; the seeds hadn't come up after a reasonable interval and he wanted to know what was the normal germinating period for this species.

I didn't know so I turned to the library. A two-hour search failed to turn up the slightest bit of information on the germinating period of seeds nor could I find a single seed catalogue which listed the number of days required for germination and surely the seed growers should have this dope at their fingertips.

Then ... days ... than one was ... tered making a sowing of heuchera, Coral Bells myself about four years ago I turned up my garden diary for that year and there it was: 25 days.

Believing that this information would be useful to other home gardeners I spent a rainy weekend going through my old diaries for the past 10 years digging out notes on how long it took different kinds of seeds to sprout and here, for your garden scrapbook, is the dope.

Annual Balsam 15 days; English Daisy 7 days; Swan River Daisy 11 days; Cobaea 15 days; Carnations 12 days; Russell lupins 15 days; Cornflower 8 days; Sweet Sultan 8 days; ... 8 days; ... 10 days; Dahlias 9 days; Gloxinia 20 days; Geranium (Pelargonium) very irregular, 14 days to 2 months; Heliotrope 17 days; Pinks 9 days.

Strawflower 8 days; Marvel of Peru 20 days; Larkspur 15 days; Hollyhocks 8 days; Nicotines 20 days; Marigolds 9 days; Morning Glories 10 days; Nasturtiums 8 days; Pansies 10 days; Shirley poppies 20 days; Portulaca 21 days; Annual Phlox 23 days; Castor Oil Plant 15 days; Salvia, ... days.

Petunias 20 days; Snapdragons 18 days; Scabiosa 22 days; Sweet Peas 7 days; Verbena 9 days; Violas 10 days; Zinnias 6 days; Sweet William, 8 days; Cactus 11 to 62 days; Clarkia, 8 days; Candytuft 7 days; African Daisy 14 days; California Poppy 8 days; Lobelia 10 days; Kochia 15 days; Mignonette 8 days.

Canterbury Bells 10 days; Columbine 33 days; Aubrietia 24 days; Yellow Alyssum 10 days; Foxglove 15 days; Shasta Daisies 9 days; Forget-me-nots 15 days; Lavender 13 days; Regal Lily 27 days; Lupin (after chipping and chilling) 10 days; Polyanthus Primrose 14 days; Mexican Chili Pepper 8 days.

I should point out that these figures are the results of my own experience and may not necessarily apply under your conditions. It would be best then to wait for at least a week longer than the period listed before giving your seeds up for lost.

Truth Flies Up Chimney

News Magazines Hit As Actors Speak Up

STEVE ALLEN
... thorough drubbing

ALEC GUINNESS
... absolute rubbish'

The ... write with ... television and ... are ... perhaps ... everyone else ... I can never remember a period when so many actors ... back to the press. While some of the ... in poor taste, most of this outspoken talk ... Some fresh air was badly needed.

The most conspicuous example of an actor talking back was Steve Allen's thorough drubbing of Jack O'Brian of the New York Journal American, whose ... have extended his more temperate and fair-minded colleagues and ... the whole industry. ... attack on O'Brian ... which ... the ... in all broadcasting.

* * *

Some years ago ... magazine ... what platform would he do it from?"

... exploded with wrath. "It's absolute rubbish. From the cover picture to the story it wasn't me at all. There are 10, 15 or 20 inaccuracies ... no trace of the truth at all. They've even got ... and age wrong. Amazing how wrong a magazine ... such a reputation for research can be."

West ... so amusing ...

There is a fragrant example of ... by committee rather than by responsible individuals and by the time legmen, researchers, editors and writers get through pushing the facts around and ... to ... and ... the truth has flown up the chimney.

* * *

Guinness is simply saying publicly what many people have said privately for years. Time has got so august, so all-powerful and so obsessed with being readable that it has forgotten how to write a simple news story.

... quoted me as having said something I did not say, and then ... and the ... I hadn't said to start out with. It takes a very rash and very enterprising magazine to do that.

Mr. Guinness is the second actor to fight into the news magazines recently for ... stories. The first was Arthur ... and was not at all happy with the story.

* * *

... I think probably it sells more magazines if you can present a more colorful or controversial picture of a celebrity or an actor or a person ...

This sort of reckless irresponsibility is only possible because people don't generally talk back to the news magazines for the simple reason that they are afraid to and they have no platform to talk from.

* * *

I would love to see an honest and wholly fearless documentary of the news magazines, their growth, their news procedures, their malpractices, on television, perpetrated by someone like ... Daly or Edward R. Murrow, whose prestige is sufficiently great to command attention and respect. It's a whale of a story and it's an untold story.

* * *

In the talking-back department we now have the ... spectacle of a ... between Jack Paar, Walter Winchell and Elsa Maxwell where I think things are getting a little out of bounds. I'd rather not get into the merits of that case beyond saying it's all part of the general irritability that's going around.

Any day now I expect Helen Hayes to take a swing at Walter Lippman.

Pigs in Poke Pretty Lean

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five people bought "pigs in a poke" Thursday—and they were pretty lean pigs.

All complained to police that they were defrauded.

The buyers had been to an auction of boxes of goods that had been held by a storage company.

The five invested $60. But when they opened their purchases found they contained trash, old newspapers, magazines, firewood and a large rock.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

Daylight saving time returns overnight, renewing its semi-annual havoc among TV listings.

In brief CBC (channels 2 and 6) will have no time changes; NBC programs (channel 4) will be at the same times, in most cases; ABC (channel 5) will have most programs an hour later than last week. CBS (channels 7 and 12) will keep nighttime shows as is but will revamp its daytime schedules completely. The shuffle means cancellation for some shows, new runs for others and new times on different days for still others.

"My wife's always glad to see me when I come home. I get there during 'Shock Theatre.'"

No column could detail all the changes. Viewers are advised to follow the accompanying listings closely; then, if a favorite is missing, call this writer to find out if it's gone for good or if it's coming back soon. Just for example, Wells Fargo is off until May 4 while You Asked For It does not come back until May 11.

* * *

TV BITS: I seem to be the only viewer who thought the new TV version of Red Mill was any good. It's on again tonight on channel 2; watch it if you have time and let me know your opinion.

Also of interest today are the golf tournament on channel 4, BC bowling on channel 2 and three movies, "Champion," "Man in the White Suit" and "Mask of Dimitrios" ... Canada has lost another TV star—Jackie Rae has signed a 52-week contract with Britain's commercial network ... Jackie Cooper, who started with "Skippy," will produce and star in a TV version. Title roles goes to a boy named [illegible] Livingston ... Wagon Train, GE Theatre, Restless Gun, M Squad and Tennessee Ernie have been renewed for another season ... Latest on The Big Record is that it will move to ABC next season.

Bob Hope will have no sponsor trouble next season. The auto company which is dropping Patrice Munsel as of next month has bought eight Hope shows, two more than this year ... A two-hour TV version of Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" is due next season ... Dotto and Verdict is Yours may get nighttime spots ... $64,000 Question adds contests of physical skills as of next week in efforts to get higher ratings ... CBS plans to start its new quiz Sing A Long as an hour-long weekly event this summer ... Robin Hood, due to end this week, has been reprieved for another month ... There's talk of a news photographer series called Man With a Camera.

RANCH WAGON
AND NOW THE FABULOUS
SPORTS COUPE

There are now over 10,000 Borgward owners in North America. They like, and you will like, the low initial cost, economical operation, comfort, roominess and years of trouble-free driving of these superb German-built cars.

UP TO 40 MPG

Guaranteed Unconditionally 6 mos or 6000 miles

"SPORTS CAR ILLUSTRATED" WRITES

"A luxury light car [illegible] celain like body finish. One of the very quickest. Among the leaders in spaciousness. Few light cars can match it for room. Now more than 50 Borgward dealers in Los Angeles alone."

"ROAD & TRACK"

"The Borgward is a [illegible] sible car for sensible people. It is hard to believe how so much room could be included in a car of such compact over-all dimensions. In front ample [illegible] for 3 adults."

"MOTORSPORTS"

"Vision both front and rear, is outstandingly good. The driving position is very comfortable. The busy responsiveness of the engine. Legroom ample for comfort on long drives."

Rita Del Mar's Daily Astrology

SATURDAY, APRIL 26

Today's quotation: "There is no greater sign of ill-breeding than grumbling. Take the wind as it blows, the rain as it falls, the woman as she is."—Sir Seymour Hicks

Saturday for everyone: Make this a quiet day. Be impersonal, tactful in dealings with others. Be guarded against a tendency to haste, friction or impulsive action.

Look for Your Birthdate and Birthsign Below

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Make needed repairs [illegible] evening.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Take things as they come; enjoy an unplanned get-together in evening, extend hospitality.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Be cheerful to banish emotional ups-and-downs early. Make calls, project personality in evening.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Take it easy; don't brood on bygone mishaps; delay your big purchases for another time.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo)—Allay anxiety promptly; seek mild excitement, gains in evening; don't squander funds.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo)—Clear the decks of pending chores early, spend an agreeable evening.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra)—Don't spend too much time, money on friends, see people in evening.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio)—Keep your faith in things in the morning; write off momentary setbacks. Good news may materialize in evening.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Saggitarius)—Go in for letter writing, expect shift in plans; enjoy informal meetings in evening.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn)—Do only required buying, get your dollar's worth, bypass credit. Expect fun in evening.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius)—Don't lose ground; be co-operative but don't demand full reciprocity. Get around in evening.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces) — Throw off early morning lethargy if you should enjoy a fairly stimulating evening.

Planning ahead—Good for entertaining, sociability, etc.: April 27, 29; May 5

City Plumbers Not Involved In Strike-Lockout Battle

Although talks are stalemated, Victoria plumbers will not join in a threatened strike and lockout battle between 2,000 plumbers in B.C. and the Plumbing and Heating Association of B.C.

The dispute could stop work on Upper Campbell Dam and the Georgia gas generating plant at Chemainus as well as a number of mainland projects.

After the plumbers voted to strike to back demands for a 60-cent hourly increase on the existing rate of $2.70 an hour, plus fringe benefits, the association threatened to lock them out if they do not accept a six-cent hourly wage increase by Monday.

Victoria plumbers, under a separate agreement, are reported awaiting the results of the larger dispute before they continue negotiations.

Park Dedication Set In Central Saanich

Centennial celebrations will start in Central Saanich Sunday, with formal dedication of the new centennial park on Wallace Drive at Saanichton.

The park centennial project was completed during the year on a 12-acre site bought by the municipality for $7,000. The $2,437 centennial grant plus $1,000 raised by public canvass has been spent on improvements including playing fields, fireplaces, picnic tables and playground equipment.

The park will be dedicated by H. D. Johnstone in ceremonies starting at 2.30 p.m. and will be formally presented to Central Saanich municipality by centennial committee chairman W. W. Mitchell.

Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, Sidney Rotary, Central Saanich officials including Reeve H. R. Brown will take part in the program with clergymen of the district leading in the prayer and hymn portion of the dedication.

The 40-member Victoria High School Band will make a special guest appearance.

Fishing Dispute Blamed

British Columbia fishermen landed $482,000 worth of fish in March, nearly 50 per cent less than the $939,000 they earned in March last year, the fisheries department reported yesterday.

Decline was attributed mainly to curtailment of herring fishing operations due to a prolonged union-companies price dispute. Only 3,943 tons of herring were landed last March, compared with 19,917 tons the March before.

Salmon landings were valued at $26,000, only half the value of the previous March. Grey cod, ling cod and the crab and shrimp fisheries were up.

Frank A. T. Parham, 1020 Catherine, was sentenced to 30 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to driving while under suspension. It was his sixth conviction for the same offence.

Wins Fellowship

Awarded a $2,760 fellowship to attend the University of Chicago this fall is Douglas M. Shrimpton, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Shrimpton, 2248 Edgelow. Mr. Shrimpton, who has been attending UBC, received the Charles and Frances Hutchinson Fellowship which will enable him to work for his PhD in plant physiology.

Parading Israelis Return to Posts

JERUSALEM, Israel (UP) — Strong Israeli army units that paraded here despite bitter Jordanian protests moved back to their posts in the countryside Friday.

Their presence in divided, neutralized Jerusalem to help celebrate Israel's tenth anniversary brought Jordanian reinforcements flooding into the Jordanian part of the city.

Involved were some 5,000 troops, tanks and artillery.

Montreal Has Busiest Day Of the Year

[illegible] rooming past the 100,000-share mark for the first time this year, heavy industrial trading carried prices irregularly higher.

The upward movement was strongly supported by base metals and constructions and upheld to a lesser degree by banks. Aluminium at 26⅛ climbed 1 point.

Other sections in the mixed range were steels, newsprints and utilities. B.C. Power dipped ½ to 38.

Oils and pipelines were mixed to higher. Trans-Mountain at 49¾ improved ¾ and McColl rose ½ to 51¼, while B.A. Oil and Trans-Canada pipeline lost ¼ each.

Aluminium Rallies

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market was pulled to a moderate gain when mines rallied in the final hour to replace most of their losses with small gains. Industrials, which were at their strongest of the day before noon, and western oils led the index-winners with gains of nearly a half point. Base metals erased an index loss of more than a half point to close with a quarter-point gain.

Industrial price changes were generally fractional but a few lightly-traded stocks moved ahead in a range of about a point. An exception was Aluminium's point gain at 26¾ amid a turnover of 7,870 shares.

Western oils had gains ranging to 35 cents, topped by North Canadian at $3.55. Senior issues were led by Calgary and Edmonton, up ⅞ to 21.

Upturn at New York

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks resumed their rise after a brief chill early in the day when the list felt the impact of a big batch of adverse corporate news.

Except for Chrysler motors were steady to firm with General Motors at a new high for the year on a rise of nearly a point and American Motors active.

Oil shares received new attention and rose fractions to more than a point with several at new highs. Atlantic Refining, an exception, declined more than a point on lower earnings. Steels including Bethlehem moved higher. The last was helped by retention of its usual dividend.

The turnabout in stocks came without benefit of outstanding news. There were several individual items such as higher net for Zenith which sent it to a new high; good earnings for the tobaccos where gains ran to 2 points in American snuff; and a pileup of somewhat more optimistic statements by industrial leaders.

Strength in Oils

VANCOUVER — In the most active session for some weeks, selected issues gained although the trend was mixed to lower.

Bralorne rose to 6.05 and Bethlehem to 90 cents, but Craigmont, again a heavy trader, was under some pressure and closed 5 cents down on the day at 2.70.

Stronger among oils were Royal Canadian at 49 cents, Peace River Pete at 40 cents, and Pacific Petroleums at $16½.

McMillan B found support at $26⅛ and Trans-Mountain at $49½.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (CP) — The stock market was mixed in light trading. Gilt-edged securities and industrial shares drifted with no marked tendencies.

South African gold shares and oils were firm. Coppers opened firm but later declined.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Fair export interest in all grains was shown on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Small quantities of barley and flax were reported sold to the United Kingdom and there were good inquiries in evidence for all grains.

Prices mostly showed some hesitation, reflecting declines in U.S. markets.

Flax trade was moderately active with some selling credited to American interests. Exporters were buyers on recessions. Demand was associated with both new and old business with prices somewhat easier.

Three Versions of Recession

Industrial Chiefs Differ

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Heads of three important Canadian companies yesterday gave their shareholders three different versions of the economic state of the nation.

[illegible] Imperial Oil, said that whether or not the low ebb had been reached, there were definite signs that the sales of petroleum products and Canadian crude oil would quickly show an upturn.

H. Greville Smith, president of Canadian Industries Ltd., said his company was "watching anxiously for signs of an end to the decline" but felt it was still too early to predict improvement for 1958.

Roy Dobson, chairman of Dominion Steel & Coal said that while there was no need to be pesssimistic "these were uneasy times," but he looked for an upturn in the general economy late in 1958.

OUTLOOK FAVORABLE

Despite the fact that Imperial Oil's first quarter earnings are down 30 per cent $15,022,000 (48 cents a share) against $21,581,000 (68 cents a share) in the record first quarter of 1957, Mr. White said he expected important increases in his firm's business.

He expects the demand for heating oil to rise because of an increase of customers, and this increase will be very marked if the next heating season is a normal one.

Demand for oil for industry will resume its growth as soon as conditions improve, and a smaller though significant increase in gasoline demand will accrue through higher car registrations.

Regarding the expansion of the Canadian crude oil market, Mr. White reiterated that the logical growth was in Ontario and the Puget Sound area, rather than the Montreal area, which would entail tariffs, quotas or government-built pipelines to start a "chain reaction" of controls and regulations.

Denying that his company was actuated by its own vested interests in the Montreal refinery area, Mr. White said the opposition to moving crude to Montreal was because his firm thought it would not be good business for producer, refinery or consumer.

In Ontario, action by individual refineries and oil marketers could provide a sizable volume of additional outlet, while the demand in the Puget Sound area would grow when the high inventory position is liquidated and normal growth resumes.

Canadian Industries Ltd. position is being made difficult by importation of fabrics and clothing at prices below the cost of manufacture in Canada. Mr. Greville Smith told shareholders yesterday that in the first quarter of 1958 CIL sales were slightly higher than a year ago but that the operating income was appreciably lower.

Import problems were also stressed by Dosco chief Roy Dobson. He said export prices of European mills were down as much as one-third, thus cating into the Canadian market. He regretted the tariff board had not yet agreed to protect the Canadian steel industry and its employees from low wage country imports.

IMPROVED TREND

MacMillan and Bloedel's report for the first quarter of 1958 shows that the earnings were higher than in the previous quarter, although still below the level of a year ago.

The net profit for the period was $1,620,516 (31 cents a share) against $1,902,942 (36 cents a share) in the corresponding quarter of 1957, but considerably better than the $1,158,171 (22 cents a share) earned in the quarter ending Dec. 31.

PRODUCTION DOWN

In both the Dec. 31 and the March 31 quarters, production was curtailed by the 11-week pulp and paper workers strike which ended February 4.

The effect of this strike, however, was in the last quarter somewhat offset by new production from the Port Alberni expansion.

The report shows that for the first six months of the MacMillan and Bloedel fiscal year, ending September 30, the net profit is $2,778,687 (53 cents a share) against the $5,179,879 (98 cents a share) in the first half of the 1956-57 fiscal year.

* * *

Simpsons Ltd., which jointly owns Simpson-Sears mail order business, improved its trading position in the first quarter of 1958, according to E. G. Burton, chairman and president.

Shareholders at the annual meeting in Toronto yesterday were told net profit of Simpsons was up $300,000 from the first quarter of 1957, and that the improvement was even larger in the Simpson-Sears part of the business.

Outlook Bright For Bralorne

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bralorne Mine is still in good ore in the 33rd level of Bridge River area gold mine, the annual meeting of shareholders was told on Thursday.

M. M. O'Brien, managing director, said the drifting on the 33rd level has developed better than 800 feet of ore with an average width of 8.1 feet and averaging approximately one ounce of gold a ton.

He reported the main shaft level is down to the 35th level. Net earnings of Bralorne during 1957 were $507,472, up from $87,655 the previous year.

BRITISH AMERICAN ANNOUNCEMENTS

E. J. GALLAGHER

O. I. TORKELSEN

E. D. Loughney, Senior Vice-President, The British American Oil Company Limited, announces the appointment of E. J. Gallagher as General Manager of the Production and Pipe Line Department with headquarters in Calgary. O. I. Torkelsen, Vice-President, will assume executive duties relating to production and pipe line operations with headquarters in Toronto.

Mr. Torkelsen was formerly Vice-President and General Manager of the Production and Pipe Line Department in Calgary, and Mr. Gallagher was formerly Assistant General Manager of the same department.

A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh in Petroleum Engineering, Mr. Gallagher joined Gulf Oil in Oklahoma in 1930 as a roustabout, rising to Assistant Superintendent of Production for Tulsa Division. He joined Canadian Gulf, Calgary, in 1952 as Manager of Production and was appointed Assistant General Manager of combined pipe line and production operations when British American acquired Canadian Gulf in 1956.

Mr. Torkelsen, a graduate of the University of California in geology, joined the B-A Oil Producing Company in 1939 as a geologist, later serving in various key capacities with the B-A subsidiary in the U.S. In 1951 he was transferred to Toronto as Exploration and Production Co-ordinator, becoming Vice-President in charge of Western Canadian exploration and production for British American at Calgary in 1953 and Vice-President and General Manager of the Production and Pipe Line Department in 1956.

Diver Locates Stolen Car

Stolen and ditched in the chilly waters off Argonaut Mining Company's wharf at Campbell River, this crushed and corroded car, belonging to John Thompson, of Cumberland, was recovered yesterday after being located by diver John Humphries, who is pictured in water after he attached line to wharf crane. Car was reported stolen from Courtenay's Riverside Hotel parking lot on March 23 or 24. Tip to RCMP led to its recovery.—(Photo by The Baldwins.)

New Forest Licences To Be Granted Soon

Granting of 24 new forest management licences—now known as tree farm licences—is in the offing, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston indicated yesterday.

He announced that processing of final agreements granting the licences had started. This follows a recommendation by former chief justice Gordon Sloan that the licences be awarded.

Mr. Williston also announced that Mr. Sloan, newly-appointed forestry advisor to the provincial government, had been instructed to inquire into the "bidding relationship" between holders of FMLs and small independent operators in the acquisition of timber from a public working circle.

Small operators have complained that FML holders can outbid them in timber auctions because they bid a price which makes it uneconomical to pay because the FML operators have a large stand of timber which can average out the over-all price.

The minister said that following public hearings by Mr. Sloan, more than 700,000 acres of timber bordering the Fraser Valley from Hope to Lillooet will be incorporated into a public working circle.

This area has first job done being appointed forestry advisor and the government will accept the recommendations.

On Pay Day

Cancer Drive Goes to Army

Something new will be added to pay parades for Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry next week — pretty nurses.

They will attend to canvass for donations to the 1958 Conquer Cancer Campaign. Donations will help provide new, enlarged quarters for the Victoria Cancer Clinic, and will help finance research projects into the causes and cures for cancer.

The girls will attend the 9.30 a.m. parade at Work Point Barracks Tuesday, the 1.30 p.m. parade at Work Point Wednesday, and a special pay parade at Macdonald Park at 9.30 a.m. Wednesday.

Special pay parade at Macdonald Park will be held for men taking part in a rehearsal for the battalion's annual review which will be held Saturday.

"The money is urgently needed," K. W. L. Scace, secretary of the Victoria campaign committee, said last night. "Recent developments in reasearch suggest that cancer could well be conquered soon and intensive research is needed.

"Increased facilities at the Victoria Cancer Clinic will enable research to be carried out there, and will also make room for the new Cobalt 'bomb' we have ordered."

Donations should be sent to Mr. Scace at 816 Wharf Street, Victoria. All donations will be acknowledged by a receipt and can be claimed as deductions for income tax purposes.

Air Raid Sirens To Multiply

Complete reorganization of Greater Victoria's air-raid siren coverage with Ottawa picking up the tab is in the cards, civil defence committee spokesmen said yesterday.

Already in Victoria is one of seven new sirens, of 10-horsepower capacity, twice that of the 13 sirens now posted through the district.

The new coverage plan, approved by the federal government, would install these new sirens in place of and in addition to the present alarms, providing the area with a 20-siren system which, officials hope, will leave no sound gaps.

Logger Drowns

CAMPBELL RIVER — Benjamin Schramm, 25, a loading engineer with Sonora Island Logging Company, was drowned Friday at the company booming ground at Edith Lake.

There were no witnesses to the accident, but it was believed he slipped from a boom. Diver John Humphries, who was flown to the scene on Sonora Island, located the body which was flown back to Campbell River by B.C. Airlines.

Church Leader Advises B.C.

'Don't Dwell on Past'

It's fine to have fun looking back when celebrating a centenary, but a look to the future will get you further, a prominent educationalist-churchman reminded British Columbians here yesterday.

"It is not an occasion for mere romantic and sentimental indulgence," Dr. James S. Thomson said in an interview.

Then came some clear-cut opinions — delivered with a pungent turn of phrase in a broad Scots accent belying years of life in Canada—on education, religion and the CBC.

Dr. Thomson, here from Montreal to speak Sunday night at the inter-denominational B.C. centennial thanksgiving service in Memorial Arena, is moderator of the United Church of Canada. He is dean of divinity at McGill University, former president of the University of Saskatchewan and former general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Dr. Thomson said he would speak at the Arena on "The Spirit of Thanksgiving"—people must first remember that B.C. came as a gift from God, and then that people developed and made use of the bountiful resources it contains.

He warned also that during the celebrations it should be remembered that the "plain, ordinary people who stayed and worked" probably did much more for B.C. than the "picturesque characters."

Here as head of the largest church in Canada, on what is actually a nation-wide tour, Dr. Thomson said present-day television and radio had "knocked out" the Sunday evening church service. But more Canadians than ever before are nevertheless going to church once on Sunday.

Dr. Thomson, who accepted a wartime government appointment as general manager of the CBC for one year, said he left it because it interested him "only 25 per cent." That was the "more solid stuff" like news, good music, drama and educational features.

The other 75 per cent was "soap opera to pass the time for the housewife while she washed" and he couldn't stomach that.

Dr. Thomson had come to the job from being president of the University of Saskatchewan. So he returned to "something I was 95 per cent interested in—universities," and went to McGill.

Despite practice of television in running religious programs only Sunday mornings, when they do not interfere with commercials, "religious broadcasting is quite popular . . . though generally not well done," he said.

He expected there would be "no fundamental alteration of policy" regarding the CBC under the new Conservative government. He said the CBC had "never been repressive" to private radio or TV.

The United Church has 700 ministerial candidates right now, more than it has ever had, and "we should have 1,000," Dr. Thomson said.

"It's a changed day. We are now trying to meet the demand rather than to entreat people to come to church."

Asked why there wasn't a less serious over-all problem in juvenile delinquency, international hates, crime and other news-making problems, he said the problem was that people were interested in personal religion and not its social aspects.

DR. JAMES S. THOMSON
. . . look to future

Evangelist Billy Graham with his emotional appeal to the individual, was a "symbol" of the present situation.

"The church needs to moralize and socialize a good deal of our personal religious convictions."

Current juvenile delinquency problem is largely due to the fact "we are now reaping the harvest of a rather stupid psychology" that was very strong a few years ago. That was the psychology of letting a child have his own head—"parents shouldn't repress Johnny"—and it has turned out delinquents, Dr. Thomson said.

An added general problem is that people are frustrated by present world conditions, he said.

Only answer the churchman offered was "public education."

He took quick and strong issue with a statement by well-known imposter Ferdinand Waldo Demara, who among other things hoodwinked his way into being a Royal Canadian Navy doctor in Korea. Demara said Ph.D. degree winners largely were living off their laurels in the schools and not continuing with research or study.

That was "obviously untrue" because there was a great problem of filling university staffs," Dr. Thomson said.

"It is true a Ph.D. can be greatly over-rated, and sometimes has been regarded as a meal ticket, but the contemporary university is not much of a place for malingerers," he said.

DENTAL GROUP

First organization of dentists in Canada was the Dental Association of Ontario, founded in 1867.

At Oaklands Chapel, the Gospel Choristers of Vancouver will be featured at services at 11.15 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

Ex-Coastal Skipper, Capt. Thompson Dies

Funeral services for Capt. William Thompson, 76, who was well known to Island west-coasters as a former skipper of the Princess Maquinna, were held at White Rock yesterday. He died Wednesday.

The pioneer skipper of Canadian Pacific ships, known to his friends as "Black Thompson," sailed in CPR vessels for more than 40 years, spending a great part of his sea-going career taking Princess liners into Alaskan and Vancouver Island west coast ports.
